M'Sweeney Wins Close Governor Race

WOOSTER DEM FACES BRICKER IN NOVEMBER

Holds Lead of 5,000 Votes Over State Auditor on Nearly Final Figures.

THREE OTHERS TRAIL

Sweeney of Cleveland's Lone Ohio Congressman to Lose Nomination.

BULLETIN

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—The plurality of John McSweeney reached 17,500 today, with all but 15 of Ohio's 8,853 precincts tabulated in the contest for the Democratic nomination for governor. The unofficial vote count stood: McSweeney 118,824; Joseph T. Ferguson 101,310; Clarence H. Knisley 44,037; Walter F. Heer 41,495; Fran'k A. Dye 12,390.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS—Ohio Democrats picked soft-spoken John McSweeney of Wooster in Tuesday's primary to oppose Republican Gov. John W. Bricker's third term bid as voters renominated all but one of the state's congressmen.

A strong Roosevelt administration supporter, McSweeney won over a field of five after a tight battle with State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson, who conceded defeat at 5:07 a. m. today—then walked from his state house office to McSweeney's Neil House headquarters to extend congratulations.

Return from 8,410 of Ohio's 8,853 precincts in the Associated Press tabulation showed: McSweeney 99,335; Ferguson 94,867; Clarence H. Knisley 41,992; Walter F. Heer, 33,660; and Frank Dye 11,164.

Former Congressman McSweeney, 51, making his first try for governor, did little campaigning but beat Ferguson's personal organization and candidates backed by metropolitan county "bosses" and former Gov. Martin L. Davey.

Bricker was unopposed for a third term nomination.

Martin L. Sweeney, Cleveland Democrat and 20th district representative for 12 years, was the only incumbent congressman beaten. He lost to Michael A. Feighan, who attacked what he termed Sweeney's "isolationist" stand.

Theirs was the bitterest battle of three Ohio congressional contests in which "isolationism" was

Beer Winner In 17th Democratic Committee Race

Charles M. Beer, Ashland county Democratic leader, was elected 17th district state central committeeman yesterday by his party in one of the most spirited of the primary campaign races.

Beer defeated J. Freer Bittinger, Ashland, present state executive committee chairman who sought re-election. Beer had the endorsement of the Richland and Ashland county central and executive committees which took a stand against Bittinger following an intra-party scrap at a caucus of district party leaders in Mansfield last spring.

The unofficial total vote today showed that Beer, former district committeeman, received 6,346 votes to 5,844, a majority of 502 votes over Bittinger. Beer carried Richland county, -,924 to 1,316. He won in Ashland county, 1,100 to 705, but lost Delaware, Licking and Coshocton counties to Bittinger.

The district Republicans elected J. Harry Payne of Mt. Vernon as their 17th district committeeman without opposition. He will succeed Earl A. McFarland of Mansfield, while Beer succeeds E. B. Kallmerten, also of Mansfield.

New women central committee members from the 17th district will be Mary B. Snow, Democrat, and Mae Cole, Republican, both of Mt. Vernon. Neither had opposition.

Nominate McGregor, Anderson

Congressman Easy G.O.P. Winner; Dem Nominee Gets 2,512 Edge.

Congressman J. Harry McGregor of West Lafayette was re-nominated by the Republicans and Samuel A. Anderson, Newark service director, was chosen by the Democrats for congress in the 17th district in yesterday's primary voting.

Rolling up huge majorities in all six counties in the district, McGregor, candidate for his second term, defeated Col. Oliver H. Dockery, Newark, a retired army officer, by a margin of more than five to one. McGregor polled 11,726 votes in the district to 2,054 for Col. Dockery.

Anderson, former state representative from Licking county, held a 2,512 margin over A. Ross Siverling, Ashland county prosecutor, on the basis of unofficial returns. Anderson carried every county in the district except Ashland, where voters in Siverling's home community gave him 1,619 votes to 252 for Anderson. The complete unofficial district vote was: Anderson, 7,294; Siverling, 4,782.

Richland county Republicans snowed under Col. Dockery, giving McGregor 1,995 votes to 287 for the former army man who twice was defeated for congress.

Democrats in Richland county voted 1,919 for Anderson and 1,393 for Siverling, a 526-vote margin for Anderson.

Col. Dockery, who attacked McGregor on the isolationist issue during the primary campaign, was virtually ignored by the county executive committees in the district which endorsed McGregor for his second term.

Anderson also charged that McGregor was an isolationist before Pearl Harbor and in doing so undoubtedly sounded the keynote of the fall campaign in the district.

In his campaign, McGregor denied that he took an isolationist stand, asserting that he voted to keep the country out of war and had no apologies to make.

McGregor has represented the district in congress since February, 1940, when he was chosen at a special election to serve out the unexpired term of the late Congressman William A. Ashbrook of Johnstown. McGregor was re-elected the following November and will complete his first full term this year.

GETS 15 YEARS

Pelley, Silver Shirt Leader, Is Sentenced For Sedition.

INDIANAPOLIS—(AP)—William Dudley Pelley, founder and leader of the Silver Shirts of America, was sentenced today to 15 years in prison in the first major sedition case since America's entry into the war.

Federal Judge Robert C. Baltzell imposed the sentences after denying a defense motion for a new trial.

The dapper, 52-year-old Pelley, whom government attorneys called a "Benedict Arnold" and "an Aaron Burr" in their prosecution, was convicted a week ago on 11 counts of criminal sedition in connection with publications of the Fellowship Press, Inc., which he headed.

In passing sentence Judge Baltzell said he believed Pelley should be imprisoned "for the duration."

SILVER PROBLEM

Treasury Finds It Can't Use Rare Metal In Nickels.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Treasury officials revealed today that a boom in the value of silver had forced them to discard a plan to make five cent pieces out of a 50-50 combination of silver and copper.

Because some jewelers now are paying as high as 72 cents an ounce for silver, the mints discovered that the new coins might be worth more than five cents apiece, and people could melt them down and sell the metal at a profit.

(State Senator)

Here are the winners of major contests for state, district and county offices in yesterday's primaries. John McSweeney, former congressman from Wooster, was nominated for governor by the Democrats in a tight race with State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson of Barberton. Nominated for congress in the 17th district, including Richland county, were J. Harry McGregor, Republican of West Lafayette, and Samuel A. Anderson, Democrat, Newark. Both won easily. Pliny H. Rogers of Grafton was nominated in a field of five for state senator in the 27th-29th district. A Republican, he is almost certain to be elected in the fall since the Democrats had no candidate in the primary. County commissioner candidates chosen yesterday were C. L. Mitchell, Mansfield, Democrat, and Cyrus L. Shoup, Plymouth township, Republican. Mitchell was renominated over E. P. Long and Fred Bricker and Shoup won by 26 votes over John C. Friday in the closest race in the county.

ROGERS WINS SENATE RACE

GOP Nomination From 27-29th District Virtually Assures Him of Election.

Pliny H. Rogers, veteran Republican from Grafton, Lorain county, was virtually assured today of re-election to the state senate from the 27th-29th district which comprises Richland, Ashland, Lorain, and Medina counties.

Rogers, seeking his third term in the senate, was renominated yesterday by the Republicans by a margin of 1,331 votes over the runner-up in a field of five. There was no Democratic candidate so the nomination is the equivalent of election in November unless the Democrats can write in a candidate and elect him.

Workers Resume War Production After 16-Hour Strike.

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Production of aircraft parts was reported "in practically full force" today at the Cleveland Graphite Bronze company after a 16-hour strike.

Harry E. Fuller, plant superintendent, said "we are pleased with the turnout" as men reported for work on the 11 p. m. shift last night.

Approximately four-fifths of the works went on a "labor holiday," said William Bullock, business agent for the unaffiliated Mechanics Educational Society of America, who contended grievances on company treatment of employes was handled unsatisfactorily.

Conciliator M. J. O'Donnell recommended certification of the dispute to the war labor board.

COUNTY HELPS STATE WINNERS

Richland Gives Good Margins To Victors on Ohio's Primary Tickets.

Richland county retained its place as an accurate barometer of the state voting trend by giving every winner for a state office on both tickets a good margin in yesterday's primary.

The county, including Mansfield, gave John McSweeney, the Democratic nominee for governor, a majority of 753 over State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson who also was the runner-up in the state. Clarence H. Knisley, who finished third in the state count, was third in the county. Walter F. Heer was fourth and Frank A. Dye fifth.

Total unofficial Democratic vote for governor was: McSweeney, 1,761; Ferguson, 1,008; Knisley, 569; Heer, 229; Dye, 121.

FRIDAY LOSES HOT RACE FOR COMMISSIONER

Shoup Edges Him Out By 26 Votes in Nip-and-Tuck Republican Contest.

ONLY 6,480 GO TO POLLS

Mitchell Nominated By Dems For Third Term, Defeating Long and Bricker.

By VIRGIL A. STANFIELD

In a primary marked by the lightest balloting in recent years, Richland county voters yesterday nominated C. L. Mitchell, Mansfield, and Cyrus L. Shoup of Plymouth township, as the candidates for county commissioner at the November election.

The commissioner contests were the only purely county races on the primary party ballots. Candidates for other county offices were unopposed.

Only 6,480 votes were cast in the county by electors who were too much concerned with the war to go to the polls. The county has more than 40,000 eligible voters. Pre-primary forecasts had placed the probable vote at about 8,000.

The Democrats, who had fiery contests to decide for county commissioner and governor, cast 4,054 ballots to 2,425 for the Republicans who were unable to arouse much interest in their lone county commissioner race or any of the others for district and state contests.

A little more than half the votes, or 3,491, were in Mansfield where the Democratic candidates polled 2,267 votes to 1,224 for the G. O. P. candidates.

Shoup was nominated by the Republicans in a nip-and-tuck battle that wasn't decided until the last precinct reported after midnight. Unofficial tabulation showed him the winner over John C. Friday of Springfield township by 26 votes. Shoup's vote was 1,101 to 1,075 for Friday.

Mitchell was re-nominated for a third term by the Democrats over

WOUND FLIERS

French Patriots Assault Group of German Airmen.

VICHY — (U.P.) — French patriots killed or wounded 20 German war pilots with hand grenades as they trotted around the cinder track of a stadium on the outskirts of Paris, it was reported today.

There were 60 fliers in the exercising group when the patriots, hidden behind a hedge, tossed two grenades among them as they trotted past.

One German was killed instantly. Another died en route to a hospital. Eight were wounded gravely and 10 others suffered lesser injuries. In the confusion, the patriots escaped.

The attack occurred last Wednesday and climaxed a week of outbreaks and sabotage that included dynamiting the gates of a barge canal and the bombing of a pro-German newspaper plant.

British Lose Plane Carrier, Claim Most of Crew Rescued

(By Associated Press)

LONDON — The British aircraft carrier Eagle has been sunk in the Mediterranean but a large part of the 22-600-ton warship's crew has been saved, the admiralty announced today.

A German broadcast heard here indicated the Eagle went down at the start of a battle which may be continuing between a British convoy and Axis submarines and warplanes.

The broadcast, quoting DNB, said a British "capital convoy," escorted by the bulk of the Mediterranean fleet, had been engaged in the western Mediterranean since last evening.

The original German report said the Eagle was sunk at mid-day.

Adding to the scope of the reported action, the Italian high command said that one of its submarines scored two torpedo hits at dawn yesterday on "a large warship of unascertained type, strongly escorted."

The admiralty said at least one enemy submarine operating in the same area as the old carrier already had been sunk, indicating that the Eagle went down fighting.

German broadcasts last night said four torpedo hits sent her to the bottom in the western Mediterranean.

Marines Score Advances on 3 Islands, Belief

Naval Guns and Planes Continue to Support Land Troops; Australia Reports 'Cautious Optimism' Over American Operation.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON—(U.P.)—President Roosevelt today called a meeting of the Pacific war council and it was assumed that the members would receive latest information on progress of the Allied offensive against the Japanese in the Solomon islands.

(By International News Service)

GEN. DOUGLAS M'ARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Australia—Reported "firmly established" at their footholds on Tulagi, Florida and Guadalcanal islands in the Solomon group northeast of Australia, United States Marines were believed making steady progress against the enemy today under cover of Allied naval guns and bombing planes.

While giant bombers under Gen. Douglas MacArthur's command maintained a ceaseless shuttle attack with 2,000-pound bombs against Japanese reinforcement bases throughout the whole southwestern Pacific, a feeling of "cautious optimism" arose in Australia.

Bitter fighting was reported in progress between the successfully-landed marines and enemy occupational forces but actual details were lacking.

Australian radio commentators broadcasting from "advanced bases" said it was generally believed the attacking American forces are advancing steadily toward their objectives.

There was no announcement as to landing of additional reinforcements to aid the initial occupational forces of marines. But it was obvious that the aerial canopy spread by American and Australian planes and the ceaseless barrage maintained by naval guns were for the purpose of covering new landings.

Meanwhile, MacArthur's bombing planes relentlessly pummeled Japanese shipping and rocked enemy-held island bases to prevent Nipponese reinforcements from reaching the Solomon battleground.

News of the action in the Solomons remained sparse but headquarters here revealed that American and Australian fliers based in commonwealth outposts were maintaining their part in the first full-scale United Nations offensive with continuous assaults on Japanese sea lanes and airdromes.

Bombing operations continued over a 2,000-mile area from Timor island in the west, across New Glinea and eastward to the Bismarck archipelago, as the MacArthur airmen struck determined-

ABLAZE: Reds Leave Trail Of Ruins In Caucasus Retreat

(By United Press)

MOSCOW—Every occupied city, town and hamlet in the north Caucasus was reported in flames or in ruins today, as the outnumbered Russians fought desperately and thus far vainly to stop relentless German drives toward their Black sea bases on the west and the valuable oils wells of Grozny on the east.

(Indications that the Russians had fired their own oil wells came from Radio Vichy, which broadcast that "fire fighting armies" were marching behind German troops in the Caucasus, "fighting fires that the Russians had ignited in their oil wells."

(The Germans claimed today that they had taken Slavyanskaya, 20 miles northwest of Krasnodar and 30 miles from the Black Sea mouth of the Kuban river.)

The Russian position in the north Caucasus, it was said, appeared to be irretrievable.

What the Russians had not destroyed in their scorched earth campaign, the Germans now savagely demolished. The fertile Kuban valley, a few weeks ago filled with golden, waving wheat, tassling corn and peaceful Cossack villages, was in waste.

Not a hamlet, it was said, escaped the torch of the Germans, apparently venting their anger because the Russians had destroyed most of their crops.

MOUNTS: Death Toll Grows As Indian Disorders Continue

BULLETIN

NEW DELHI, India—(U.P.)—Rioting independence demonstrators surged closer to the British-American residential section today and police—backed by troops with machineguns—again fired on crowds.

(By United Press)

BOMBAY, India—Serious new rioting in which police repeatedly fired on independence demonstrators was reported today in dispatches from Wardha, Lucknow, Delhi, Poona, Nasik, Cawnpore and Madras today as the total death toll mounted to an estimated 60 in spreading disorders.

At Wardha, a center of the All-India Congress party, police fired four rounds after vain charges with their batons to disperse a meeting which had been declared illegal.

Many constables were injured when attacked by the crowd, which hurled stones at them after a student had addressed the meeting and urged the people to disperse. The crowd refused to leave. Wardha is only six miles from the home of Mohandas K. Gandhi, interned congress leader, at Sevagram.

In Bombay, there were new disorders but the situation seemed to be slightly improved. There were no clashes and no gun fire until noon and thereafter clashes were fewer than on previous days.

At Delhi, a military truck carrying soldiers was surrounded by a mob near the New Delhi railroad station. Stones and dust were thrown at the truck.

At Lucknow, constables and civic guards were injured when the crowds stoned the police outpost of Aminabad. Two police cars were damaged by stoning. A dozen persons were arrested.

At Lucknow, the United Provinces government issued an ordinance providing stern punishment for rioters. The punishment ordered was greater than normally permitted under the penal code for certain classes of offenses. Any one found guilty of causing "mischief" by fire or explosives will be liable to the death penalty or to whipping.

BROADWAY

—By Dorothy Kilgallen

(Note: Among my souvenirs are two letters written by Ezra Stone, the "Henry" of the radio Aldrich Family. One written a year ago, when he entered the Army as a buck private, the other written just a few days ago by the same soldier, now a staff sergeant. Because what he felt on those two occasions probably has been felt by hundreds of thousands of American boys, I give you them both.—D. K.)

Ezra Stone Writes—

July 24, 1941

Dear Dorothy Kilgallen:

Today I am a soldier. I was inducted Wednesday, July 23rd. I got to bed early Tuesday night, 12 o'clock, but I couldn't fall asleep. I felt just as I did the night before I sailed for a trip for Europe when I was seven years old. I felt just as I did the night before an opening. I felt just as I will some day on the eve of my wedding. I hope. It was a strange sort of excitement that would not let my mind rest, that would not let me sleep.

At 5 a. m. I was staring at the alarm clock waiting for it to ring, waiting to leap from my old civilian bed to my new military life. Two minutes passed and it didn't go off. Five minutes passed and it still hand't gone off. That's right, I forgot to set it.

So I sprang out of bed anyway and stubbed my toe. I limped to the bathroom and gave myself the worst shave possible, one cut, two nicks and lots of scrapes.

My mother, as usual, had orange juice and coffee on the breakfast table. Between you and me, mother's coffee is awful. Usually I pretend to be in a hurry and leave the coffee untouched without hurting her feelings. This time I really was rushed, so I grabbed by bag and tried to get out of the house with as little fuss as possible.

A peck on my sister's cheek, a kiss from mother and a whisper in my ear, "Be a good soldier, son," A tear in her eye? Nope—in mine! I almost wanted to go back to the table and drink her coffee just to prove I really loved her. But by then Dad had taken the satchel from my hand and was walking toward the front door.

Dad and I walked silently for fifteen minutes till we were a block away from Draft Board No. 134. I didn't want him to take me any further and I guess he sensed it. We just stood there on the corner, both trying to say something without being ceremonious.

Dad spoke first, "Success in your job. It's the most important one you've ever had."

"Don't worry," was all I could say and I impulsively kissed him. I hadn't kissed him since the days when my bedtime hour was 8:30 p. m.

Without looking back I walked briskly down the block and through a door marked "Selective Administration Board NO. 134 ready to report for duty at the command of my President, now my Commander-in-Chief.

Don't feel like writing any more.

Regards

EZRA STONE

July 31, 1942

Dear Dorothy Kilgallen:

It has been a year, one whole year, and the question I am asked more often almost than "How do I feel?" is "How do I like the army?" And now after a year I'm ready to supply a straightforward answer.

I know simply that in the 365 days that I have been working for Uncle Sam I've been at times happier than I've ever been in my life, at times unhappier, but at all times proud of my job and my uniform.

There are many things that make being a soldier very desirable. I mean little things that you would hardly ever think about. For instance, it has been a great boon to me not to have to worry about color combinations, ties, socks and shirts. My sartorial splendor as a civilian never made the fashion pages of Esquire.

Then too, there is the food. At home, my mother insisted on my dieting and would limit every meal to salads, lean meats without gravy, one slice of bread, stewed fruits. But in the army the mess sergeant doesn't care at all about my figure and prepares meuns that invariably appease my abnormal appetite.

Still another feature on the credit side of army life is that nebulous phrase "good fellowship." Well, to me, it means exactly this. I had very few playmates as a child, even fewer best friends through high school days and never having gone to college, never having belonged to any fraternities, clubs or sporting organizations I never realized what a wonderful experience it is to work, sleep and eat with a gang of fellows.

There is always the guy who tells the most hair-raising furlough experiences, the "chow-hound" who is the first one in the mess hall and the last to leave, the fellow who is always getting out of work, "gold-bricking" we call it. Then there is the guy that is always shining up to the officers and the ever-present grouser.

It occurs to me now what classification I fall into. I guess the chow hounds. That is the one that practically lives in the mess hall.

I have actually done more work in the army in one year than I have done in the previous five years of my civilian life. Being associated as either producer, director or actor of 21 different productions like "Brother Rat" and "Three Men on a Horse" and playing for over 200,000 soldiers in 31 different posts has given me a broad picture of varied types of men in the service.

The times I have had fleeting moods of unhappiness during my army life have been mostly when the days were simply too short to do all the things I had to do—or wanted to do—or those times when I wanted to sleep a little longer than the crowded schedule and the persistent bugler permit. But I found, even on those occasions, that when pressed or challenged by circumstances one can always do a little more—and sleep a little less—than one thinks is possible.

Soon the curtain will fall for the last time on "This Is the Army" but we'll always prize the wonderful sense of exhilaration we felt in being part of a project that reveals the American spirit, the American theater, and the American army at its best.

Best to Eleanor, and regards to your mother and Dick.

Sincerely,

EZRA STONE

HOLLYWOOD

—By Robbin Coons

HOLLYWOOD — Another side of Hollywood: It has nothing to do with our town's drinking habits, but Hollywood is getting "plastered" more generously as the war progresses.

Coons

Shortages of lumber, metals, other building materials have thrown new work to the studio plaster shops, where in short order they can turn out sheets of "bricks" impressive "wooden" columns, realistic "iron" work. They turn out trees, too—palms to redwoods—and mountains, and any number of items you see in every picture. There is no rationing of plaster. The studio shops are filled with overalled workmen, white with plaster dust, pouring and stirring at their bins, setting molds, pouring and stirring again.

Sometimes Ralph Graham mixes and pours, when there is need of him. Mostly he serves as foreman of the morning shift in Paramount's plaster shop, translating into orders the blueprints sent over by the designers and architects—a new "face" for the New York street, a plaster throne for "Star-Spangled Rhythm," a mountain for "Forest Rangers," and so on.

GRAHAM is an enthusiastic plasterer. At 36, he has been in the department (which is called "ornamental staff") nearly 14 years. He came west from Tulsa, Okla., after a year at Oklahoma A & M., to "see California." He liked it and stayed, as a studio laborer at first, later as a plaster man. Like most movie workers, he likes the job because of its endless variety — "something different every day.

Isolationist Views Prove No Handicap

6 DOOMED MEN ADMITTED THEY GOT FAIR TRIAL

Document Signed By Saboteurs Before Their Deaths In Electric Chair.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—The six Nazi spies, who paid with their lives for plotting to sabotage America's war effort, voluntarily drafted and signed a "testimonal" to the fairness of their military trial, it was learned today from a government official.

Their action was unprecedented in the history of international warfare.

The "testimonial," which also expressed their grateful appreciation for fair treatment at the hands of military authorities, was written out in long-hand by John Edward Kerling, 33-year-old head of the Nazi saboteurs who landed on the coast of Florida June 17. The original draft was signed by all six of the Nazis, who died last Saturday in the District of Columbia electric chair.

After the Nazis presented their "testimonial" to the military commission, it was typed out by a department of justice stenographer and the six Germans then signed the typewritten copy. The typed document was photographed and copies presented to each of the seven generals, who composed the military commission named by President Roosevelt to try the Nazis, and to both prosecution and defense attorneys.

The Germans refused to permit either George John Dasch or Ernest Peter Burger, who were saved from death by President Roosevelt, to sign the document or participate in the drafting of it. One reason they gave their guards at the time was that they had no use for "squealers"—the two Nazis who turned state's evidence against their comrades and escaped the electric chair

Another reason, given by one authority who overheard their deliberations, was that they wished the document to stand for all time—for perusal after the war ends—as a testimonial to the fairness of their American trial, and that they feared its effect would be mitigated in the future if they permitted Dasch and Burger, the two "turncoats," to sign it.

SAWYER LAUDS DEM NOMINEE

Calls M'Sweeney Victor In Race, 'Good Soldier, Good Fighter.

In a formal statement Sawyer said:

"Naturally I am greatly pleased. I have known John McSweeney since we slept side by side in the army of the first World War. His record in that war should endear him to all who love a good soldier and a good fighter. McSweeney made a clean and fair campaign and there is no reason why he should not have the united support of the Democrats of this state. I am sure he will lead the ticket to victory in November."

GABLE GOES INTO ARMY WITHOUT EITHER FANFARE OR BARS TODAY

(By International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD — Clark Gable, one of Hollywood's top flight film stars, was to be sworn into the army as a buck private today.

Immediately after the 41-year-old actor is sworn into the army, he will board a train for the army air force officer candidates' training school at Miami, Fla., where he has been assigned, it was understood.

When and where Gable will take the service oath today was to be a closely-guarded secret until within an hour or so of the ceremony.

No advance notice of the actor's enlistment has been released, army officials said, in order to avoid the throngs of fans which almost mobbed induction centers when other celebrities were administered the oath.

Without a word to his studio, Gable appeared before recruiting officers yesterday and announced his intention of enlisting in the army as a $50-a-month buck private. With him was Andrew J. McIntyre, studio cameraman and a friend of long standing. They took their physical and other examinations together.

Announcement of the actor's enlistment was greeted with considerable surprise at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios where he has been a ranking star for more than a decade.

Rumors were current in the film city that the actor had been offered an army commission as a major in the air corps. This was denied by Gable who said that when he entered the service it would be as a private.

BROTHER SAFE

Willard Man Learns Kin's One of Exchange Prisoners.

WILLARD—A Willard man received word today that his brother, a Presbyterian missionary, who was held captive by the Japanese at Hong-Kong, has been exchanged and is at Rio de Janeiro en route home.

Dr. J. C. Steiner reported today that the Presbyterian Mission board in New York City had informed him that his brother, Rev. J. Frank Steiner, has been exchanged.

Steiner said this was the first word he had heard of his brother since Nov. 28. At that time, the missionary assured Dr. Steiner that he would be safe "so long as war is not declared." Pearl Harbor and war came a week later.

BANTAM BOTTLE DEADLINE SET

No More Allowed After Aug. 19, Says Liquor Director.

COLUMBUS — (U.P.) — No more beer in six-ounce bantam bottles can legally be shipped into Ohio after Aug. 19, Jacob B. Taylor, state liquor director, announced today.

Ohio brewers and beer wholesalers were given until Oct. 17 to dispose of their stocks of beer in bantam size bottles. The remaining stock on hand at that time must be returned to the point of origin, the liquor director warned.

After that date beer can be sold only in containers of 12, 24, 32, 64 and 128 fluid ounces, the liquor director ruled.

Laff-a-Day

"I'm not following her, officer! She just happened to be walking in front of me!"

Richland county election board members, who thought they were going to have the primary returns tabulated early last night, didn't get away from the board office until after 1 a. m. today—all because of two precinct reports. Most of the returns were in by 9:30 p. m., but when 11:30 came and Butler township and South Boulevards hadn't reported, board members began calling to find out what had happened. The Butler township returns arrived at 11:40 p. m. and George C. Balliet, chairman of the election board, finally had to make a trip out to the South Boulevard voting place to copy the returns from the tabulation sheet posted on the door. Shortly before 1 a. m. the husband of one of the precinct clerks brought in the ballots, explaining that his wife had told him to bring them to the election board, but he forgot about them.

WRITER LOST

Associated Press War Reporter Missing Aboard Plane.

GENERAL MAC ARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Australia — (AP)—Vern Haugland, Associated Press staff man, was listed as missing today, five days after a plane in which he was a passenger disappeared in a storm. The plane was en route from northeast Australia to the New Guinea war front.

There still was hope that the plane might have made an emergency landing at some inaccessible spot in New Guinea or on one of the islets off Australia. It was recalled here that several airmen who have been shot down or forced down over New Guinea have taken weeks to make their way back to civilization.

Haugland, 34, had waited at Townsville, Australia, for several days for transportation to New Guinea. The opportunity came Aug. 7, when by a toss of a coin he won a seat in the leading plane of several that were to make the trip. An Australian reporter who lost the toss boarded the second plane.

FISH SWAMPS OPPONENTS IN CONGRESS RACE

Pre-War Stands Ignored By Voters in Four of Five State Primaries.

(By Associated Press)

Pre-war foreign views as a general political issue were discounted in at least four of five states today as primary returns gave a wide majority of office-holders victories over opponents who had assailed them as isolationists.

Example No. 1 in national interest was the veteran Representative Hamilton Fish, pre-Pearl Harbor critic of President Roosevelt's foreign policy, who won Republican nomination in the president's home district over three opponents in yesterday's balloting.

Wendell L. Willkie, 1940 Republican presidential nominee who had joined with Fish's intra-party opponents, asserted in commenting on the congressman's lead that "for the sake both of the country and of the Republican party the fight for his elimination must be continued."

Renominated three to one, Fish observed that "these pre-war issues were sunk at Pearl Harbor and every fair-minded American knows it and resents attempts to revive them."

Other New York congressmen who weathered the cry of before-the-war-isolationism included Representatives Edwin A. Hall, Binghamton Republican; Daniel A. Reed, veteran New York Republican; Vito Marcantonio, American labor party left wing leader, and three New York city Democrats, William B. Harry, James A. O'Leary and Martin J. Kennedy.

But in Nebraska, Representative Harry B. Coffee, campaigned against on his congressional record prior to the war, lost the Democratic senate nomination to Foster May, Omaha radio announcer.

The Republican nomination to the senate seat now held by George W. Norris, veteran Independent, was won by Kenneth S. Wherry, Republican midwest director. Norris did not compete in the primary but his friends have predicted he would enter the general election again as an Independent.

Meanwhile, selection of delegates to New York state's Democratic convention, Aug. 19, officially started the battle for nomination pledges for Senator James M. Mead and State Attorney General John J. Bennett, jr., in a test of presidential influence of selection of the party's nominee for governor.

Mead carries the endorsement of Mr. Roosevelt and Bennett is supported by James A. Farley, state party chairman and the president's former campaign manager.

Sweeney's 'Out,' Feighan Wire to Roosevelt Says

CLEVELAND —(U.P.)— Michael A. Feighan, affirmed New Dealer and supporter of the administration's foreign policy, notified President Roosevelt today that U. S. Rep. Martin L. Sweeney had been defeated in his battle for re-election.

Feighan, 37, defeated Sweeney after a bitter campaign battle by an unexpected margin of 8,000 votes, ending Sweeney's 11-year tenure in congress.

"Your leadership of this nation has been approved in the 20th district by more than 19,000 votes cast for Michael A. Feighan for congress as against 11,000 cast for Martin L. Sweeney in the primary election held today," the Feighan for congress committee said in a telegram to the president.

Friends said that Sweeney was taking the defeat "hard" but emphasized that he was not retiring from the Cleveland political scene.

It was indicated he would be a candidate for mayor in 1942 against Mayor Frank J. Lausche who campaigned for Feighan in the primary race.

PICK MITCHELL AND SHOUP FOR COMMISSIONER

Electors Select Him Over Friday, Losing G. O. P. Race By 26 Votes.

two other candidates in a contest that highlighted the otherwise drab campaign in the county.

The present chairman of the board of commissioners topped former Sheriff Emmett P. Long by 427 votes and won over Fred Bricker, the third candidate by 733 votes. The unofficial returns gave Mitchell 1,661 votes to Long's 1,234 and Bricker's 938.

Mitchell campaigned on an economy platform, telling voters that the county paid off its indebtedness while he was in office and did not vote any new bonds. Long, trying a comeback after more than a year out of the sheriff's office had counted on heavy support from Mansfield. He contended that Mansfield should have representation on the county board. Mitchell lives in Mansfield but for years prior to his residence here he lived on a farm.

Long lost the city vote to Mitchell by 99 ballots The city vote in this race was: Mitchell—973; Long—874; Bricker—300.

Mitchell led the field in the county vote outside Mansfield, but Bricker ran a close second there. The county vote, including Shelby, was: Mitchell, 688; Bricker, 638, and Long 360

Bricker, former county election board member, polled a heavy vote in his home community near Shelby, but the majorities rolled up by Mitchell in the Mansfield area were too much for him

Re-nominated without opposition for a third term as county auditor, Norman L. Wolfe polled the largest complimentary vote of any county candidate on either ticket. He got a total of 3,084 votes Opposing him on the Republican ticket in November will be Alden H. Heath, an auditor at the North American Knitting mills, nominated without opposition Heath, making his debut in politics, received 1,812 complimentary votes.

Candidates for common pleas judge, chosen yesterday without opposition, will be Judge C. H. Huston, incumbent, and Municipal Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch. They will run on a non-partisan ballot in November, but Judge Huston was nominated by the Democrats and Judge Kalbfleisch by the Republicans. Judge Huston got 2,996 complimentary votes yesterday to 1,968 for Judge Kalbfleisch.

The leading county vote-getter on the G O P. ticket was John L. Catlett, re-nominated for his second term as state representative. He received 2,002 votes.

Ralph C. Lutz, Lexington, trying a come-back as representative, was named by the Democrats to oppose Catlett. He also had no opposition and polled 2,992 votes Lutz previously served three terms in the state legislature but withdrew to run for congress two years ago. He was defeated.

When Gandhi Followers Rioted In Bombay on Previous Occasion

Jawaharlal Nehru — Madelein Slade — Mahatma Gandhi — Mme. Gandhi

Scenes like the above, taken in Bombay, India, several years ago, are being repeated today as the British government of India meets Mohandas K. Gandhi's new move for independence from British rule with the arrest of the religious leader, his wife and several other leaders of his Nationalist All-India Congress party. Indian police had to resort to gunfire and tear gas to break up mob demonstrations. Shops were looted, trams stopped and buses burned by the unruly followers who violated Gandhi's own cautious counsel to stick strictly to passive civil disobedience in the 72-year-old ascetic's newest do-or-die move for complete independence. Among those arrested with Gandhi were Madelein Slade, daughter of a British admiral who has followed Gandhi for 17 years, and Jawaharlal Nehru, No. 2 man to Gandhi. Death toll in the Indian rioting reached 12.

M'SWEENEY OWNS LONG RECORD OF SERVICE IN PULBIC POSTS

(By International News Service)

COLUMBUS—John McSweeney, the 1942 Democratic gubernatorial nominee, like Gov John W Bricker, whom he will oppose in the November general election, has a long record of public service.

He was born in Wooster on Dec. 19, 1890, which makes him 51 years old. Educated in Wooster public schools and Wooster college, he taught for ten years in Wooster high school and in Wooster college summer school.

He married Miss Abby Schaefer of Richmond, Ind., in 1924, after serving overseas in the first World war with the 37th division.

In 1922, McSweeney was elected to congress and served three terms, representing the 16th Ohio district While a member of the house agriculture committee, he helped sponsor the McSweeney-McNary forestry and conservation bill.

When George White became governor in 1931, he made McSweeney his state welfare director and in that capacity the 1942 Democratic gubernatorial nominee set into operation the old age pension system.

He returned to congress in 1936 as a member at large and as a stalwart supporter of President Roosevelt, but was defeated for re-election in 1938.

McSweeney's most recent public office was state administrator of the defense savings staff for Ohio. He gave up the position last spring when he decided to run for governor.

The Democratic nominee is a member of the American Legion, the Disabled American Veterans of the World war, Phi Gamma Delta, and the Rotary and University clubs of Cleveland. He was cited by General Pershing and awarded the Croix de Guerre while serving overseas. He is a member of the Episcopal church.

The 27th-29th district will have only one senator during the next two years after having two men in the state senate for the past two years. The number of senators changes with population shifts.

Ralph A Winter, Lodi attorney, finished second in the district and Joseph Jameson of Lorain, one of the two senators now in office, was third C J. Pittenger of near Shelby was fourth and Elmer Borchert of Lorain county was fifth.

Pittenger received the majority support of his fellow Richland countians, topping the field here with 622 votes to 593 for Winter, 421 for Rogers, 319 for Jameson, and 66 for Borchert.

The total district vote, complete but unofficial, for the five candidates was:

Rogers 4,975, Winter, 3,644. Jameson, 3,502 Pittenger, 1,060, and Borchert, 323

LABOR OPPOSES SALARY LIMIT

AFL Tells Congress It Stands Against $25,000 Ceiling Suggested By FDR.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—The American Federation of Labor notified congress today it was opposed to a limitation of net incomes to $25,000 annually, as proposed by President Roosevelt and supported by a spokesman for the Congress of Industrial Organizations.

Raymond G Cranch of the Washington research staff of the AFL told the senate finance committee his organization realized that many independent business men would find it necessary to restrict their activities, reduce their war work and decrease their employment of labor under such a limitation.

"The nation would indeed be shortsighted to limit productivity of its business men by such an arbitrary and inflexible rule."

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States presented testimony in favor of a flat 10 per cent retail sales tax and a five per cent withholding tax.

Cranch said the AFL approved the levying of high taxes to win the war "but can see no justice in arbitrary wage freezing, either for the worker or for the employer."

5,500,000 women in Britain are already working in industry and the number is mounting rapidly. Millions more, mainly housewives, are working part-time.

PECK ANNOYED AT LATE GAME

Says Indians Won't Run Chance Of Game Being Called.

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Roger Peckinpaugh, Cleveland Indians vice president, asserted today that last night's twilight game with Detroit which ended in a tie because of darkness was "our last experiment" with late daylight starting hours.

"Never again so long as I have any connection with this club will we start a game in twilight unless we know we can finish it," Peckinpaugh said. "That means, unless we know we can turn on the lights if necessary. Everyone in the stands would rather have seen us finish the first game than start the second game, but we had no choice and of course, neither did the umpires."

MANSFIELD, OHIO, WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 12, 1942.

Minorities Choose Party Nominees

A SMALL percentage of the voters in each of the political parties have selected party candidates for important state, district and county public offices to be filled at the general election scheduled for Tuesday, November 3.

Richland county's light vote at yesterday's primaries was no more than typical of the lack of interest shown throughout the state. Out of an estimated 42,000 eligible voters in this county, fewer than 6,500 went to the polls yesterday—4,054 Democrats and 2,425 Republicans—from which it can be seen that small minorities in both parties selected the nominees.

Except for candidates on the county ticket it may be doubted if many people were sufficiently informed as to the comparative merits of aspirants for district and state offices to be justified in expressing preference. In most instances the candidates for minor state offices were no more than names on the ballots and it may be wondered, in view of the small vote, whether the purposes of the primary system are really being accomplished, or whether the convention system of choosing candidates for state and district offices may not be more effective in placing responsibility on political parties.

The primary method is designed to secure majority expression in the choice of candidates but it is obvious that this is not being done when less than one-sixth of the eligible voters do the choosing.

If yesterday's voting reflects the extent of public interest in politics this year it appears that the subject had better be put aside, at least until a couple of weeks before election, so that the much more important matter of winning the war may be given full attention.

Gandhi's Followers Helping Japan

AGITATORS for the independence of India have chosen an unfortunate time to press their demands for immediate freedom from British protection.

It has been the custom of Great Britain to grant the privilege of self-government to units of the empire as rapidly as a sufficient percentage of the population evidenced ability to govern themselves.

India's strangely mixed and antagonistic groups have offered little encouragement to belief that orderly government could be established and maintained without such restraint as has thus far been imposed by Great Britain, and leadership of such a man as the eccentric Mohandas Gandhi, coupled with present acts of violence, provides convincing proof that independence is now being withheld in an effort to save India, rather than to exploit it.

A promise of Indian independence "after the war" has been made by Great Britain, at which time this action could be taken without involving the danger of immediate Japanese aggression, which now exists.

It is a distressing situation which requires Great Britain to expend disciplinary energy in India at a time when every effort should be directed toward defeat of the Axis powers.

Hitler and his cohorts could ask no finer support than is being given them by Gandhi and his Congress party followers.

No Place for Bund In America

THE Cincinnati Freie Presse, a German language newspaper, comments editorially that the German Bund has "ingloriously and completely disappeared from American life." Also that the demise "should have occurred long ago." Such a declaration, from such a source, is fitting dismissal of a phase of American life and citizenship which should have vanished with the last World war, but which survived to some extent in American life until recently.

Many German-American immigrants and their descendants hoped that bonds of language and culture between the old country and the new could survive and strengthen again, but those hopes proved vain. Hitler's Germany has nothing in common with the culture and spirit that once led Americans of many origins to Germany as to a shrine. Culture, humanism, music, art, decency in public and private life, co-operation with other nations and cultures throughout the world, all these are gone. Intelligent sons of the old Germany can have no association with the Germany that exists today.

More Women Turn To War Work

ONE notable thing about this universal war is the completeness with which women are entering it. Their most general participation is found in the war factories. It is natural, perhaps, that the most mechanized of all wars should draw women increasingly into the making of materials for it. But few Americans could have foreseen the flood of feminine labor destined to flow from homes, offices and schools into the mills and into the whole complex system of war production. Neither could they have foreseen, in spite of foreign examples, how easy and natural this process became when it had once started.

Women are now making not only shells to shoot at the enemy but nearly everything else that armies fight with. Millions of them engage, in some form or other, in infinitely varied services that supplant or replace man-power. And this trend will doubtless increase as long as the war continues.

Scrapping Obsolete Railroads

ANOTHER way to get high-class scrap metal is to requisition unneeded railroads. All rails and bridges on the Winchester, Ky., and Maloney, Ky., branch of the Louisville & Nashville railroad, a 53-mile line, have been requisitioned by the government. The road has been dismantled.

This branch was used for local traffic only, and last April the road asked the interstate commerce commission for permission to abandon service. With rails and bridges gone, this permission is likely to be granted.

Lady Astor charged that "Russia is fighting for itself"—but, come to think of it, the United States is doing very much the same thing.

An effort is being made to have the CIO and the A. F. of L. behave like one happy family—instead of in-laws.

Unheard remark: "I'm so glad that vacation is almost over—I can hardly wait to get back into school again."

Even as "fishing co-ordinator" Harold Ickes can scarcely be expected to develop a new line.

HEIL, SAINT!

Plane Output Above Expectations

—By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON—Praise is never as interesting as blame, but if we examine only what has happened SINCE December 7 the air service, from top to bottom, has done a pretty good job. Up to Dec. 7 there may be many opinions. The defense of the air services, both army and navy, was that they could not do much planning without knowing WHAT they were going to be called on to do until this country became actually involved, and the White House told them what was wanted.

So the thing divides into three chapters: Before Pearl Harbor, the events of December 7 themselves, and since December 7.

We can dismiss the period BEFORE December 7 by admitting that up to that time the admirals and generals, as a whole, underestimated woefully the triking power of airplanes. Up until then there was considerable skepticism, for example, among not only our admirals but the British, as to whether a battleship could be sunk by airplanes. They know better now.

* * *

BUT the admirals and generals do not deserve ALL the blame for what happened before Pearl Harbor. There was no such planning for war as should have been done, in view of the fact that we were so surely drifting into it. The same lack of preparation was shown a bit earlier by the British, in failing to take full advantage of this country's potential war production capacity.

The success of the Japanese surprise attack in destroying planes on the ground both in Hawaii and in the Philippines is a separate chapter which has been fully discussed.

But SINCE December 7 the air services have really given a good account of themselves. It is not permitted to give figures, but the number of pilots, bombadiers, gunners and navigators trained is extraordinary, and the fighting which has been done by our planes all over the world, including participation in some of the bombing raids over continental Europe, is something of which we can be proud.

Similarly the production of planes has more than come up even to President Roosevelt's expectations. There are troubles and bottlenecks galore, but the plain truth is that these bottlenecks, in many instances, are caused not by failures in those weak links in the chain, so to speak, but in the surprising production in OTHER links, thus outstripping the weak links, and turning them into bottlenecks.

* * *

WHEN one reads of shortages of critical materials, one must remember that there would be no shortages if production had not exceeded expectations—in fact exceeded, and by a wide margin what had been thought possible.

Obviously, if the expectancy is 100, and the production is 150, of any given article, be it a ship or a plane or a tank, some essential will be found short. Provision had been made for 100, not 150.

So a good many of the headlines are calculated to give comfort to the enemy, and destroy peace of mind at home. Which is not to say that they are not good; they turn the spotlight on the weak links in the chain; they build up determination to strengthen those links, and spur the workers and managers involved.

Mystery Associated With Hay Fever.

—By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

FOR MOST of us the fifteenth of August is just another day. But for one out of ten of us, the poor hay fever victim, the date stands on the calendar and has been peering at him for weeks. It does seem pretty unfair and hard to explain in the cosmic scheme of things. Why should he be the one whose nose swells up and whose eyes water and who gets asthma just because the ragweed begins to throw its pollen into the air on that date? He didn't deserve this: he didn't commit any crime or fault that should pick him out from the crowd of those who do not have hay fever.

Sensitive to Pollens.

It can hardly be called the sins of the fathers, because though it is undoubtedly hereditary, his father didn't commit a sin any more than he did.

The known facts about hay fever can be put down in a very small space. Some people have a sensitiveness of the mucous membranes of the eye, nose and throat to the pollens of certain plants, notably the weed known as ragweed.

The ragweed is one of the plants that spreads its pollen by the wind. It has no flower, in contra-distinction to the plants that pollinate by insect distribution. The consequence of the poor hay fever sufferer is that about this time of year the ragweed throws out on the air a great shower of its golden pollen.

Now why I can breathe this into my nose and not notice it at all, and why when my wife gets even one pollen grain into her nose she begins to sneeze, I cannot explain. But those are the facts.

Causes Asthma.

Hay fever in the early part of the season affects the eyes and nose most. Later on, many victims get asthma, which is a constriction of the muscles of the bronchial tubes. It affects only certain tissues of the body. It is easy to understand why it should affect the eyes and nose, when it is explained that the cause is the pollen grains in the air; they would naturally light on the surface of the body.

They are so small that they are completely invisible and the poor victim does not understand when the thing first hits him. Nor, confidentially, does the physician understand all. Why, for instance, do the pollens not enter the stomach and cause distress there?

Preferably the vaccine treatment should begin long before August fifteenth. The vaccines are given about twice a week. But even beginning treatment August fifteenth, they have often afforded much relief.

The various nasal sprays, especially those containing ephedrine or epinephrine, undoubtedly do temporary good.

Yugoslavia's Good Example.

Governments-in-exile from conquered European nations have been welcomed in this country that they might continue to function and sustain hope in their peoples. It may develop, however, that a policy recently adopted by the Yugoslav government-in-exile will be an example which will be of incalculable benefit.

Very wisely, Yugoslav officials have decided to stop spending money on its press bureaus which, in reality, have been nothing but propaganda agencies which expanded and dramatized items of the regular news agencies about guerilla warfare in Yugoslavia. The decision was prompted by economy, which, in every such case is worth considering, but it will be of much greater worth if it influences all officialdom to go out of the news-coloring business.

If the multitudinous agencies of the United States government would follow the lead of Yugoslavia's government-in-exile in this policy, it would save hundreds of millions of dollars and relieve the postal service of tons of useless burden.—Detroit News.

Attack on Siberia Expected Soon, Japs Mass Forces In Manchuokuo

—By LOUIS F. KEEMLE

MILITARY MEN doubt the soundness of the theory that the American offensive in the southwest Pacific is intended to divert Japan from an attack on Siberia.

They still expect the Siberian attack, and soon. The weather in that region is as suitable now for military operations as it will be this year, and the prevailing conditions will not continue much beyond September.

Japanese intentions can only be guessed and they may have other plans—India, for instance. But operations against India will not be feasible until the end of the monsoon in September. The Japanese have lost the initiative in the South Pacific and it is possible that they may not be able to regain it, unless our operations in the Solomon island end disastrously.

Such an outcome seems improbable, in view of the long and careful preparations which must have preceded the attack. The Japanese, therefore, unless they are to remain static for the remainder of the summer, must look elsewhere.

* * *

TWO developments support the theory that eastern Siberia will be the next battle ground. One is the German smash in the Caucasus and Don-Volga area, which has fared so well that there seems little chance of an upset this year. That means Russia will be unable to divert any strength to the Far East to resist a Japanese attack.

The other is Japan's concentration of land and air strength in Manchoukuo, along the Siberian border. The Japanese are understood to have the bulk of their strength massed there. The latest information is that there are 25 to 27 divisions in Manchoukuo, two or three of which were moved in during the past few weeks.

Japanese divisions vary in size, some being 15,000 men and others 20,000. Counting auxiliary and specialized units, they probably have no fewer than 500,000 men and perhaps as many as 750,000.

In addition, their air strength in Manchoukuo is estimated at 1,500 combat planes, bombers and fighters. Unless the United Nations offensive in the south forces them to divert a large part of this force, it is not likely otherwise to affect any plans the Japanese may have with respect to Siberia.

* * *

THE ACTION in the Solomon-Australian area is primarily aerial and naval. Japan needs little in the way of naval support for an attack on Siberia and can maintain the bulk of her fleet in the south, except for what is needed in Aleutian operations.

In attacking Siberia, Japan is expected to open with an aerial attack on Vladivostok and the air bases on Kamchatka peninsula and the adjacent Commander islands. These bases, one at the lower end of the peninsula and the other on Commander, would be important to the United States for bombing attacks on Japan. (There is one school of thought which holds that Japan will be beaten by direct attack on the islands proper, rather than by being rolled back in the southwest Pacific.)

In the land phase of the Siberian campaign, the Japanes are expected to push up the Amur and toward the coast to isolate the Vladivostok area. Another army would shove northwestward to cut the trans-Siberian railroad at Chita, where the two Far Eastern branches of the road are merged into a single line.

Watching Trends

—By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON — Just when it appeared that the District of Columbia residents had settled down to blackouts and the joys and worries of any other mushrooming wartime community, along came Rep. George A. Paddock, of Evanston, Ill., and started them gasping at a straw again.

The straw in this case is an old one—the hope of getting some kind of representation in Congress for the 700,000 or so people in voteless D. C. It's a pretty slim straw, too, if you ask me, but the way some of the local civic leaders are going for it, you would think it was the only life raft on the ocean after a sub attack.

* * *

CONGRESSMAN PADDOCK is a Republican and a first termer. He's not even a member of the House District committee. But when he came to Washington, looked around and saw a citizenry numbering about 100,000 more than in his own big Illinois tenth district without the right to vote for a dog-catcher, much less a congressman, he was appalled. He decided to do something about it. He offered to introduce a bill. Mostly when first termers introduce a bill, that's about the last you hear of it.

But just as a tip to all future first termers, make that bill a proposal to give the District of Columbia some kind of a vote, and you'll never hear the last of it. You might even wind up on the House District committee, which is commonly referred to in the Capitol corridors by men who use the milder language as the most thankless task in Washington.

* * *

MR. PADDOCK'S bill would give the District a non-voting delegate in the house. This would put the nation's capital on a par, so far as representation goes, with Hawaii, Puerto Rico, Alaska and the Philippines. That may be only half a loaf, but as one commentator put it, "it would be the first step toward Americanization of the American Capital."

About 68 years ago, residents of the District did enjoy that American privilege of marking a ballot. As a matter of fact the District had a territorial government, governor and all. But in the aftermath of the panic of 1873, the territorial government went bust, and congress had to take over. Because of the sins of the city fathers in those days the District has never had a vote since.

* * *

AS USUAL whenever the question of giving the District representation arises, there's a division in the ranks of those who favor it and only silence from those who oppose it. Some think that Mr. Paddock's half a loaf might defer the chances of getting a whole one.

Others doubt that a district delegate, without a vote, could do much good. Certainly, with 700,000 constituents sitting in his lap, he would be a harried soul.

Broken Dreams

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

ARE YOU over thirty—a parent—or perhaps an irritated bystander of Young America's antics? Then look up your July issue of "Good Housekeeping" or hustle out and get one.

There's a paragraph in that issue which will hit all of us oldsters where we live . . . a paragraph in Vina Del Mar's fine serial "Do You Take These Women?"

Yes, it's one of those broken home situations . . . with a man who didn't know his own heart. A man who had not learned wisdom or humility from his shattered dreams and yet like all of us, felt qualified to tell other people how to mould their own lives although he had made a muddle of his.

So, after bewildered years, Bart comes back to see his daughter married—the daughter who is so like the frivolous, gay wife he had divorced—yet could not forget. And, in a resurgence of the old bitterness he warns his daughter's lover against the unreliability of women. Warns him out of the accumulative misery in his own heart hoping that the boy may profit by his experience. But, of course, the boy doesn't. He had meddled uselessly — viciously. Waking next morning he wondered why he had meddled at all.

"Why had he felt called upon to warn Phil Larkin? It is a young couple's right to work out their own salvation without older people befuddling the situation. And suddenly he knew why it is that children so seldom profit by their parents' mistakes.

It is because Nature does not intend the young ones to absorb the stories told by the elders of the tribe. It is against Nature's plan for them to bring wisdom to their love, so she has arranged that only their ears know the story, not their hearts, not their minds or souls but Phil had taken Bart's story seriously and rushed out armed with a knowledge that had been tailored to fit an older man."

How often you and I have done that! Ripped some piece out of our own tragic experience and tried to bind it on some young impulsive soul like a plaster, forgetting that experience is worth nothing to the other fellow unless he buys it for himself out of the struggle of his own travail, under the influence of his own environment.

You can't pass experience on—yet we keep on trying to do it. We say we try to do it for love—to protect the younger souls from pain. But I wonder. Do we really want to protect them or do we want to express our own superior power and wisdom!

(Thinking of some of your own sermonizing—and how it failed? So'm I. Feeling your ears grow red? So do mine. What fools we make of ourselves, you and I, trying to balk old Mom Nature.)

Yes, what fools! For Nature never intended the younger generation to follow us—the same trails or the same paterns. How could there be progress if we did? We don't learn by being told. We learn by asking . . . by experimenting . . . by blundering and suffering. Our mistakes are as sacred as our successes . . . and usually far more helpful.

DON'T TRY AND DICTATE ANOTHER PERSON'S PROGRAM IN LIFE. EVEN THOUGH THAT OTHER PERSON BE YOUR OWN SON OR DAUGHTER. HE DOESN'T WANT TO HEAR IT. IT WON'T HELP HIM. IT WILL PROBABLY BORE HIM TO TEARS. FOR HOWEVER CLOSE HE MAY BE TO YOU IN THE FLESH HE IS AN ALIEN TO YOU IN THE SPIRIT AND YOU CANNOT LIVE HIS LIFE FOR HIM NOR MAKE HIS PATTERN.

Give him instead that which will help him far more—and help you too. Give him the faith that once sustained you . . . the pride you were denied . . . the dreams that were broken . . . the enthusiasm which was repressed. Give him your fire . . . not your ashes. Then trust him to make good in his own way.

A Farmer's Diary

Aerial Farm Photo

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

A NEIGHBOR appeared in our drive and took a folder of papers from his pick-up truck. "This is not my job—this acreage report—" he said, "but the other fellow is sick, so I'm filling in." Leafing through the sheets, he came to one which bore my name.

On the front page, a temporarily pasted photograph, became detached and fell to the ground. I picked it up "What's this?" I wondered.

"Oh—that! It's the aerial photograph of this farm the year you bought it. See—here's the part that was, in corn—and this in wheat . . ."

It was a perfect replica of our 56 acres, cut from an air-made map—as accurate as any surveyor's compass could produce. It gave all borders distinctly and dependably drawn—even a slight jog was reproduced. Steep hillsides did not appear, but the buildings were plain and the splendid line of maples along the lawn.

I thought I knew how our farm must appear to the crane, the buzzard, the swooping owl.

"And is this done throughout the state?" I asked.

"Yes—and every state. This air survey is kept on file in each state capital. Not only that, but each growing season they get an accurate acreage for each crop—see, here's your wheatfield of last year, and there's your garden. By comparing, from year to year, the state men know whether any district is improving or depleting in fertility and profit."

"How do farmers co-operate with the governmental supervision?"

"A few folks resented the idea, at first, of pictures being taken without their consent," he said with a twinkle in his eye. "Maybe they didn't want to be looked down upon. But when, from year to year, they see improvements they have made going into the records, it gives the farmers a sure feeling that they are doing what is important. And where the land is improving, more modern conveniences and better living follow. This is the air age—even farmers may soon be flying."

MARINES GAIN IN SOLOMONS, REPORTS HINT

Naval Guns and Planes Help Land Troops Battering at Japs on Islands.

ly to isolate Japanese forces outside the Solomons and keep them from opposing United States Marine fighters which have landed in the Tulagi area.

Gen. MacArthur's communique today said Allied bombing planes had struck new heavy blows in raids extending from the former Dutch-Portuguese island of Timor to small Jap bases in the Arafura sea, New Guinea and New Britain island.

"Allied medium bombers," the communique said, "attacked enemy shipping at Timor. Results are unknown. The sinking of a cargo vessel in a previous attack was confirmed."

In attacks on the small islands of Kei and Tuel in the Arafura sea west of New Guinea the United Nations bombers scored direct hits on wharves and buildings.

Airdrome runways in the vicinity of Jap-held Rabaul, subjected to devastating assaults by one-ton bombs at the start of the Solomons offensive, again were blasted.

A dogfight took place north of Samarai, on the southeastern tip of New Guinea when seven Japanese Zero fighters engaged Allied fighting planes. Two of the enemy craft were definitely known to have been shot down, while three others were believed destroyed and the remaining two damaged. One Allied plane was lost and others damaged.

Reports received from an Allied operational base said that the Jap-held airdromes in New Guinea and New Britain had suffered heavily from the persistent bombing by United Nations fliers.

One pilot said:

"Runways at Lae, Salamaua, Lunukai and Vunakanau are in pretty bad shape. Our 2,000-pound bombs caused widespread damage and tremendous fires."

The pilot said that spectacular explosions had been seen following the Allied assaults on the Jap bases, indicating that ammunition dumps had been hit.

Belief was expressed that the Japanese will be able to repair the runways eventually but as a result of the continual Allied hammering it is felt that they are unuseable at the present time.

While official reports on the Solomons battle say the campaign is centered in the Tulagi area, port of Florida island, belief increased here that the offensive is directed in the main against the larger island of Guadalcanal where the Japanese have built three air bases, principal one of which is located at Lunga, 15 miles south of Tulagi.

The Guadalcanal air bases posed a serious threat to the Allies because of the fact they are comparatively near to Port Moresby, advanced United Nations base in New Guinea. Lunga, it was pointed out, obviously was prepared as a strong base and might have been used by the Japs for eventual invasion attempts against Port Moresby and Australia itself

There was an increasing feeling here that American Vice Admiral Robert L. Ghormley launched his Solomons attack because the Japs were known to be steadily reinforcing the islands for a probable invasion attempt in an effort to avenge the trouncing given them last May in the battle of the Coral sea.

That the Guadalcanal base of Lunga is one of the main objectives of the American invasion gained credence here because Allied bombers recently had been meeting with increased Jap fighter resistance from this area. Only a few days ago a communique reported the shooting down of two new-type Zeros in the Guadalcanal area.

Marines Make This Pacific Landing Unopposed

In contrast to the action-filled landings made by American forces in the Solomon islands, where enemy forces were present, U. S. marines are shown in these pictures making an unopposed landing on an island somewhere in the southwest Pacific. Reconnaisance had revealed no enemy forces were present on the island. At the top the marines are shown in a landing barge. Starting ashore from the transport. Below, they are seen on the island with equipment and supplies. These are official U. S. Marine Corps photos.

U. S. Keeps Up Its Raids On Jap Bases

CHUNGKING—(INS)—United States Army Air Force bombers heavily raided the Japanese airdrome at Nanchang yesterday, scoring five direct hits on the airfield, a communique from American headquarters in China announced today.

One hangar was smashed by a direct hit and another powerful bomb exploded between two hangars where the Japanese were known to have numerous aircraft stored.

Fighters accompanying the American bombers encountered three Japanese planes above the field and shot down one and damaged another.

No American planes were lost in the raid and the subsequent dogfight.

A big Japanese drive to capture Allied "Bomb Tokyo" bases in Fukien province is imminent, a Chinese military spokesman declared today. The prediction was based on reports that Japanese warships have been cruising off the coast and large concentrations of Japanese troops have been massed in northern Formosa, the Jap island base which lies slightly more than 100 miles off the Fukien coastline.

'Underground' Tells Of Attack On Leaders

WASHINGTON—(INS)—An "underground" report that Premier-General Tojo and Former Premier Hirota of Japan were shot and wounded by a Korean patriot in Tokyo on June 17 was made public today by Dr. Kilsoo Haan, Washington representative of the Sino-Korean people's league.

Dr. Haan said that, according to the secret report from "our agents in the Orient," Tojo was not badly hurt but that Hirota and Maj. Yuzo Fujita, a well-known Japanese army flier, were taken to a hospital with serious wounds.

Major Fujita and two Japanese newspaper photographers were hit in a hail of bullets from police guns which killed the Korean attacker, Park Soowon, Haan said the report stated. General Tojo, he added, was shot "below the left armpit."

Constant Attacks In Aleutians Reported

WASHINGTON—(UP)—American airmen and naval gunners are making systematic attacks on Japanese installations and ships in the western Aleutian islands in an effort to make the enemy's positions untenable this winter, naval experts indicated today.

The navy reported in a communique last night that in the attack which a Pacific fleet task force of cruisers and destroyers carried out last Saturday at Kiska island, a Japanese cargo ship was sunk, shore batteries were silenced and encampments seriously damaged. Kiska is the principal Japanese position in the Aleutians.

The weather in that area is already bad, experts said, and is due to get worse in a few weeks. If United States forces can keep the Japanese from rebuilding their shelters, they will have performed an important job. Construction work is almost impossible in the Aleutians between September and May.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The United States spent $4,794,000,000 for war purposes last month —$107,392 a minute.

The July total, announced yesterday by the Office of War Information, brought war spending from June 1940 through last July to $39,559,000,000 in disbursements by the treasury, and expenditures by the Reconstruction Finance corporation and its subsidiaries.

PREDICTS CRACK

Nazi Exile Says German Morale Will Break Soon.

PORTLAND, Ore.—(AP)—Dr. Herman Rauschning, Nazi exile and former president of the Danzig senate, predicts that German morale will crack soon.

"It may come sooner than people in this country believe," he said in an interview yesterday.

Rauschning observed that Hitler's victories mean little. He said that Russian armies still are intact, while the Nazi soldiers and the German people find their burdens almost impossible to bear.

HE BEAT THE GUN

CINCINNATI —(AP)— The U. S. circuit court of appeals announced yesterday that Max Stephan, German-born American traitor sentenced to be hanged Nov. 13, had filed notice of appeal before sentence was pronounced at Detroit. The court, which ruled the notice was premature, said another likely would be filed.

Wayne Dem Faces Bricker In Fall Contest For Governor's Seat.

the chief issue. Two Republicans, Reps. Charles H. Elston in the second (Cincinnati) district and John M. Vorys in the 12th (Columbus) district weathered attacks that their pre-Pearl Harbor policies impaired the war effort. Democrats in the seventh district nominated an army captain, George J. Smith, now located with the Air Corps at Perry, Ga.

George H. Bender (R) and Stephen M. Young, (D), both of Cleveland, were without a contest for renomination for the one congress-at-large seat to be filled this year. They already are campaigning and political observers expect their Nov. 3 election clash to equal or eclipse the McSweeney-Bricker tilt.

For other state offices here was the lineup after yesterday's exceptionally light balloting:

Lieutenant Governor—Paul M. Herbert (R) and George D. Nye (D); Attorney General Thomas J. Herbert (R) and Herbert S Duffy (D); Treasurer—Don H. Ebright (R) and Robert S. Cox (D); Secretary of State—Edward J. Hummel (R) and John E. Sweeney (D); Jan. 1 Supreme court term—Judge Roy H. Williams (R.) and William C. Dixon (D.); for Jan. 2 supreme court term—Judge Edward C. Turner (R.) and Willis W. Metcalf (D.).

The Herberts, Ebright, Sweeney, Dixon, Turner and Metcalf were unopposed.

McSweeney's victory edge lay in populous Cuyahoga county (Cleveland), which he carried despite Heer's endorsement by Ray T. Miller, county Democratic chairman. Heer entered the primary at the last minute upon the urging of Miller and other big-city leaders after Miller refused to be a candidate.

The Democratic nominee also held large margins in other metropolitan counties while Ferguson—who ignored endorsements bestowed upon his rivals and said "I have the people"—swept rural areas.

Knisley, former state treasurer, also ran ahead of Heer. Knisley carried the backing of former Governor Davey. Dye, last in 1940 in a field of seven, had no organized backing and was last again this year.

McSweeney took the lead in the Associated Press early tabulations and yielded it only for short periods between 1 a. m. and 3 a. m. as rural returns piled in.

The strong Cuyahoga county trend prompted Ferguson to concede at 5:07 a. m. with a statement saying, "I promise my wholehearted support in the coming campaign." The auditor also thanked his opponents for the clean campaign they conducted.

After his all-night vigil at the state house, Ferguson and 25 of his campaign workers visited McSweeney's campaign headquarters as McSweeney was issuing this statement:

"I've heard the good news from the secretary of state that I have been nominated Democratic candidate for governor; I realize that our party conferred a great honor upon me and also a great responsibility. I accept this responsibility and will fight from now until November to bring victory to the entire state and county tickets. The only obligations I have or will have are to all of our people to serve them with all of the power and ability I possess."

McSweeney charged in one of his few campaign utterances that Ohio was suffering from double taxation under the Bricker administration.

He said that while the state built up a huge treasury surplus from tax revenues, local subdivisions were forced to seek funds through additional levies to finance local needs.

"Such a condition should not exist when Ohio has this tremendous surplus," McSweeney said.

The surplus has been estimated variously as being from $23,000,000 and $70,000,000. Bricker administration spokesmen have acknowledged that it would run around $30,000,000—including $6,000,000 due on the school foundation fund deficit—but maintain the money will be needed next year when an anticipated revenue decline develops.

McSweeney represented the 16th district in congress for three terms after the last war and later served as congressman-at-large. He also was state welfare director under former Gov. George White and in 1940 was the Democratic U. S. senatorial nominee, losing to Sen. Harold H. Burton (R.) of Cleveland.

Nominations for other state offices presented no new faces. Besides the incumbents, other nominees either have held office or been general election candidates previously.

Nye and Cox have unusual records. Nye, now the Democratic lieutenant governor nominee, was the 1940 attorney general candidate. Cox, who will try to unseat Treasurer Ebright, was the Democratic lieutenant governor nominee two years ago. Duffy was attorney general in 1937-38, Dixon once served a short term on the state supreme court and Hummel lost to Sweeney for secretary of state in 1940.

DENIES PLOT

Eastern Pastor on Stand In Espionage Trial.

HARTFORD, Conn.—(AP)—The Rev. Kurt E. B. Molzahn, Philadelphia clergyman, denied in federal court that he was involved in espionage against the United States.

Taking the stand late yesterday to defend himself against a charge of conspiring to furnish military information to the Axis, the stout, dark-haired accused insisted that he had never been a Nazi and that he was against the Bund.

Rev. Molzahn, who followed his attractive wife on the stand, gave details of his theological education in Germany, his World war service with the German cavalry and his arrival in the United States in 1924.

Sugar Rationing Limited to 2 Days, Thursday, Friday

Despite an order from the state Office of Price administration telling rationing boards to accept applications for canning sugar at any time, Richland county residents for the present will be restricted to two application days, Thursday and Friday.

James Bailey, secretary of the county rationing board, said today that the board was going ahead with its plan to have persons seeking sugar for fall canning to make application at the county's 93 election precinct stations between 10 a. m. and 9 p. m. on Thursday and Friday.

Bailey said that other applications would not be accepted for several weeks as the board will be working on its files to record all of the applications received.

The rationing board secretary urged housewives to avail themselves of the opportunity to register near their homes rather than coming into the city to the central rationing board.

More than 400 election board workers and volunteers will handle the registration. Bailey announced that residents of Madison township, Precinct D, will register for their fall canning sugar at Madison senior high school.

Her accessories were white and she had a corsage of pink roses. A green faille suit was worn by Mrs. Wolfong, whose accessories were rose. Pink asters formed her corsage.

HOROSCOPE

For Thursday, August 13.

A day of difficulty and danger is read from the predominant mutual as well as lunar aspects. These hazards may arise suddenly and from unsuspected sources and result in tumult, upheaval, loss of substance, standing and physical energy as well. There may be threats and unpredictable events calling for calm and well-governed behavior as well as sound advice and support from such as can be depended upon for their sagacity, soundness and good intentions. Shun legal entanglements and safeguard papers and documents against loss, theft or fire.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves beset by sudden upsets, reversals, difficulties and dangers, unless they maintain calm, restraint, and composure in whatever hazardous situations arise. Rash and turbulent conduct would be disastrous. Seek wise council of dependable and well-intentioned persons, shun legal entanglements and safeguard all property and papers, as well as physical safety and health. Patience, poise and optimism are enjoined.

A child born on this day may have a hasty, reckless and temperamental nature, with the mental, emotional and physical energies under excitable stimuli, which may lead to reversals, losses and difficulties.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

"Of course it is," my father answered with surprising affability, for he usually shows no leniency toward excuses of any sort.

"Remember, dear child," he said, "you are simply laying the groundwork now. When the time comes for swift and drastic action you will be ready."

Her face brightened and she spoke quickly.

"I am glad to hear you say that," she said, then hesitated before adding apologetically.

"If there is nothing I can do for any of you, may I be excused now? I really am fearfully tired."

I knew she was not tired at all, but had a far better reason for wishing to leave us and go to her own apartment.

Noel was there, awaiting her return, and I had a sudden poignant vision of Mary's harassed young husband trying patriotically to be cheerful in the face of an arrangement which frequently kept his wife away from him and in the company of her leading man, whom he loathed.

Mary Is Excused.

I knew Mary was putting forth her best efforts to reward Noel for his acceptance of the situation, and for letting her continue the work which he now realized was distasteful to her, so I quickly gave her the dismissal she craved.

"I don't need you for anything," I said decisively, and my father picked up my cue.

"Nor I, child, not any more tonight," he said. "But from now on be prepared for a very special task as difficult as it is important."

Mary paled, but did not flinch.

"I shall be ready," she said steadily. "Good night, Grandpa Spencer."

"Good-night, darling Auntie Madge," she said. "I'll be seeing you."

New Task for Mary.

As she flashed out of the door my father looked after her with uneasiness in his eyes.

"I wish I didn't have to—" he began, then threw his conversational switch with decision.

"Did you make any discoveries down there at the restaurant?" he asked.

"Suppose you let me tell you exactly what happened," I said, "then you can judge for yourself."

Then I described the pseudo old man and his bizarre actions, and recounted my conversation with him, emphasizing his warning of danger to Olga and Olina, and ended with the man's request to be permitted to see me if he discovered later anything he thought I ought to know.

Spencer Interested.

My father's eyes told me he was keenly interested and serious, but as I finished, one of his rare smiles twitched the corners of his mouth.

"I can see that he won your sympathies," he said. "Did you, by any chance, invite him to dine with you at the Lansfield?"

"I did nothing of the kind," I said reproachfully, but I gave him the telephone number of the Underwood house, telling him not to telephone there before tomorrow afternoon. I assured him I would arrange by that time to have some one give me any message from him, if he needed to contact me. But you ought to know that if you disapprove of this proceeding, I need not go through with the arrangement."

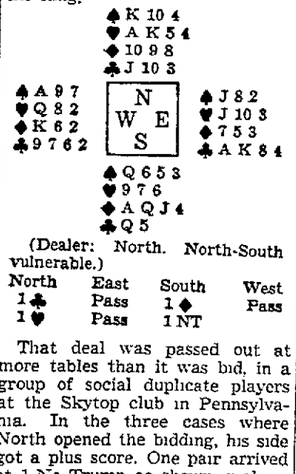
NICKELS COUNT, TOO

Pretty sound tables are known by almost all fair players for estimating the value of their aces, kings and queens, including combinations of them. When they have to count smaller cards, such as jacks, tens and nines, they are often lost. They put no more value on a ten than on a deuce. Yet how often all of us have seen the jack, queen, king and ace fall on the first trick of a suit, making the 10 tops for the second round trick, in the position ordinarily occupied theoretically by the king.



(Dealer: North. North-South vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
1 ♣	Pass	1 ♦	Pass
1 ♥	Pass	1 NT

That deal was passed out at more tables than it was bid, in a group of social duplicate players at the Skytop club in Pennsylvania. In the three cases where North opened the bidding, his side got a plus score. One pair arrived at 1-No Trump as shown, making it; one got into 2-Diamonds and made it, and one tempted the opponents to get their feet wet at 2-Clubs, which was beaten two tricks. The main point is that, where North decided to bid, his side profited thereby, and where he decided not to bid, his side suffered.

Most players of either duplicate or rubber contract have learned that they need about two and a half high card tricks to make an opening bid on a deal containing fair distribution, but should have at least three when they have no length anywhere except in one four-card suit. Their tables to measure those amounts, however, do not usually reach down very far into the deck to include cards like guarded jacks, tens and nines.

Just notice the pile of nice intermediate cards in that North hand. It has only two and a half tricks as most honors are generally counted, but in place of an additional king, it has a 10 under K in spades, a potentially useful 10-9-8 in diamonds and a possibly important value in the J-10. Addition these up is like counting your nickels when you want to determine the amount of money in your pocket. Their presence should cause you to bid.

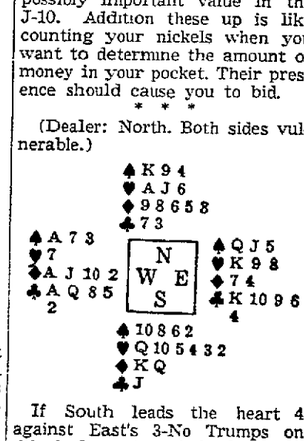
(Dealer: North. Both sides vulnerable.)



If South leads the heart 4 against East's 3-No Trumps on this deal, what card should North play, and why?

CHAPTER XXVI

Cora looked sideways at Gordon, and continued dancing.

"My name isn't Brad Lewis," he said.

She paid no attention.

"Cora, I said my name isn't Brad Lewis. Did you hear it?"

"I heard you. My real name is Lulu Schmott. So what? Lots of people want to get away from something. Forget it."

"I don't know what to do now," he went on. "I came to Denver to find out what kind of a guy my wife's first husband was."

That didn't surprise her. Gordon chose his words carefully. "And I have. I married a girl without knowing much about her except she was just the right girl for me."

"Go on, I get it, like Cliff is for me," sang out Cora. "Well?"

"We met in Sun Valley, and got married quick. I was happy until I found out that she was still in love with her first husband."

Cora's face grew serious. "A bad break, Brad. I'm sorry."

"I was only a stooge for the other guy, and I decided it wouldn't do. She had to be all his or all mine."

"You got to be a strong man to mean that."

"This guy lives out here. If he was okay, I intended to tell him the whole story and straighten things out the best I could for her and bow out of their picture. But Cora, I found out he isn't okay. He stinks!"

She stopped. "So, so, my Braddy boy, it's that way, eh? Do I know the slob?"

"Better than I do."

She lowered her foot slowly to the floor, seemed undecided for a moment, looked for a grin on his face to signify it was a joke. Her face twisted into a wry smile. She came nearer, her voice became huskier, "I don't get it," she said. "What's the payoff?"

Her face went stiff. "You're talking about Clifford Morley!" she said.

"Yes, I am! He's the fellow I came out here to meet." Cora twisted and turned, her face wrinkled with fury. "Get out of here, you double-crosser. Sneaking around here, saying you're Brad Lewis. You know my Cliff wouldn't pull a cheesy trick like that. So he stinks, does he? He walked out on Audrey because he damn well pleased to do it. He walked out on her because he loves me," she shouted triumphantly, and stood staring at him belligerently. "So she still loves him, does she, pussy-foot? Well, she has a fat chance of ever getting him again."

"Morley wants me to divorce her so that he can remarry her in six weeks."

"You're a liar—a rotten liar. You're a—" Her voice lowered and she couldn't go on.

"Audrey has been living at Morley's house on Callada road for the last ten days. I lied to you this morning when you stopped in."

"What did you lie for?"

"I didn't want you to spoil my game."

"Your game? What is it, you punk?"

"Listen Cora, this is serious. I want you to telephone Shulberry, Morley's attorney, and ask him whom did Morley give the mine to, for the large price of one dollar."

"A dollar?" she laughed. "Say, he'd have as soon sold his other hand. Are you hopped up? Have you hit the pipe, or is this a gag?"

"There's the telephone," he said, "or maybe you're afraid to use it?"

"You bet I'll call, and if you're giving me the business, you'll never get a chance to do it again." She sat at an ivory-colored dressing table. Her face was flushed. The mascara had begun to spot her cheeks.

He stood by her side, watched her attempt to be casual when she spoke to Morley's attorney and asked about the Jackpot mine. Her hand gripping the receiver clenched. The knuckles turned white. She mumbled the word "Audrey" to herself, dropping the phone listlessly. Gordon surmised the attorney had told her the deed was already recorded, and the whole affair legal.

Cora was bewildered. She looked from side to side, up at him and down again. She began to speak, but the words wouldn't come out right. She sagged.

Gordon poured her a drink. She held it in her hands several minutes before she became conscious of it and swallowed it at one gulp.

"Come on, Cora. I know it's tough on you. Do something; yell, curse, cry. You make me feel like a fool sitting here, and you not saying a word."

She looked up at him, pathetically. He went on soothingly, "When you went to the house in the valley I had to put on a performance for you. Get the facts. I want you to know the truth, now."

"Okay," she said listlessly, "go on."

"Telephone Morley to come into town . . . and we'll have it out. Just the three of us."

She dialed. To overhear, Gordon bent lower to the receiver, heard the operator ring. Then he recognized a voice, not Morley's, answering. Cora was connected with Audrey.

"Who is this speaking, please?" said Audrey's soft voice.

Cora said, "This is the secretary of the Colorado Drilling company. Is Mr. Morley there?"

"Yes, he is."

"I want to speak to him."

After a moment, Audrey's voice answered, "He is talking in the library to someone, and left word that no one was to disturb him."

Cora hesitated; then, "Are you Mrs. Blake?"

Audrey's voice answered, "Yes, I am . . . What is your name? Do you wish to leave a message for Mr. Morley?"

Cora snapped, "Never mind my name. Tell Mr. Morley that there's a load of dynamite coming his way from the Golden Nugget."

She hung up the received and turned to Gordon with a look of fury.

"You see," he said, "I didn't lie to you. Morley is double-crossing you again! I love Audrey and so I'm on our side, Cora. Now there's something else I must tell you, too."

She stood up, "I've heard enough for one day. From here on—Morley's my mess of trouble, not yours. Scram!"

"He may be the district attorney's trouble, too."

Cora held open the door for him. "The D. A.? That's hot. Why? Because he gave your wife a gold mine?"

"And murdered his first wife to get the mine," answered Gordon.

She went pale. The shock overpowered her.

"Listen, Cora," Gordon said quickly, "your sugar pie Morley is a punk. His hand was amputated because it was already rotted by radium poisoning."

"How did he get that?"

"Figure it out for yourself. I found three animals, a parrot and two dogs, that died in the same room Laurie died in. They were in the attic of his house in the valley."

"What of it?"

"They radiated in the dark—the same way Morley's hand did. I took the animals to an X-ray laboratory and had them analyzed. Here's the report. Read it."

Gordon handed Cora a letter.

"I don't have to tell you that Morley's great chum Alvin Oliver, is an ex-convict. But maybe you don't know this. He was our butler at Moonhollow, too."

"Get out . . . get out!" Cora screamed hysterically. "What you say can't be true! I knew Ben Iverson's brother George, and he'd have told me, if Laurie Iverson was murdered."

Gordon went to the door and walked out. She slammed the door behind him. He heard something shatter against it—something Cora must have thrown; then he heard her sobbing and cursing.

* * *

Cora's phone call had nettled Audrey. The voice had been vaguely and unpleasantly reminiscent. She lit a cigaret, puffed it fitfully and eyed the doors to the room at the other end of the terrace, the room in which Morley and Oliver were arguing. Their voices mingled, rose and fell. She wanted to move closer to overhear, thought better of it, realizing she could be seen through the French windows, leading from their room out to the terrace. But she waited patiently, determined to speak to Oliver before he left the house.

After that she would force Morley to explain Oliver's presence there. She was pleasantly surprised with the feeling of strength and security her plans gave her.

"Go on, now," she heard, "you can go out this way." The library door opened. She turned around.

Morley and Oliver stood close together on the threshold. Oliver, who saw Audrey, nudged Morley.

"Well, this is a surprise!" said Morley, turning to Audrey. "I've been giving some orders to Oliver. I guess you heard them."

"No," she answered. "I just came down."

"How do you do, Mrs. Blake?" said Oliver primly.

"Very well, Oliver. What are you doing here?" she asked.

"Let me explain, Oliver. I was going to tell you, my dear, but you've beat me to it. Oliver is hard up and needs a job."

"I am very sorry for my conduct at Moonhollow, Mrs. Blake, and I hope that in time you will forgive me and be glad to have me back again," said Oliver, looking humble and apologetic.

"Perhaps, perhaps. I'll see."

"I think I'll let him stay here," said Morley. "Until I find something for him at the mine."

Oliver smiled, "Thank you, Mr. Morley. I'll go for my things, at once in the car." He bowed with servile gratitude.

"Oh, did you come in a car?" Audrey inquired innocently.

"A borrowed car, my dear," interposed Morley.

Oliver disappeared around the side of the house. Audrey wished the car had been nearer them: she would have taken the license number. She wanted to know who the owner of the car was.

"Let's go in, dear," Morley said, opening the doors for her.

"Yes," she answered sweetly, "of course."

They entered the silent empty house.

Invent Crusher To Salvage Bodies Of Junked Autos

CONCORD, N. H.—(INS)—Yankee ingenuity is supplying Uncle Sam with a lot more scrap iron from New Hampshire than he might otherwise be getting.

Recently demonstrated here was the "automobile crusher," which stamps the metal bodies of junked cars into bales of ten inch thickness.

After the scrap salvage drive got underway, thousands of abandoned automobiles in the state were stripped of their metal parts, but bodies were left to rust in dumps because they were too clumsy for economical shipment to steel mills.

In an effort to salvage the rest of this steel, the crusher was designed and built by the State Highway Department under the direction of Emil J. Soucy, chairman of the New Hampshire Salvage Committee.

The contraption consists of a two-ton weight suspended within a framework of four upright timbers, and which is lifted by a donkey engine. The derelict auto "victim" is placed on a platform and the weight is allowed to fall on it

Jungle Thriller.

A jungle queen crashes society in "Beyond the Blue Horizon," the technicolor production showing at the Ohio. Dorothy Lamour is the sarong-beauty whose parents were killed in the jungle when she was a child and who is taken to civilization to claim a rightful inheritance. But most of the action takes place in the midst of jungle trees and wild tigers when Dotty returns to the jungle to prove the validity of her statements. Richard Denning, Jack Haley and Walter Abel are in the cast.

New French Star.

"Moontide," the Madison attraction opening today, introduces a dynamic new personality to the screen in the person of Jean Gabin, French actor who became an exile with the fall of Paris. Most of the action takes place on the southern California waterfront with a rugged, romantic, adventure-seeking dock worker as the central character. As much of Gabin's life was spent on the docks in Paris the role is a "natural" for him. Ida Lupino is teamed with the star and the cast includes Claude Rains and Thomas Mitchell. Jane Withers in "The Mad Martindales," is the second attraction.

Murder Mystery.

William Powell is appearing in a murder mystery, "The Kennel Murder Case," at the Ritz. The second feature, "Gambling Lady," presents Barbara Stanwyck, Joel McCrea and Pat O'Brien.

Ranch Theme.

As guardian of a dude ranch taken over by a girls' school for the season, Gene Autry has opportunity to do some romancing in "Heart of the Rio Grande," the Park attraction. He instills a sense of sportsmanship in a spoiled darling of the rich with no sense of fair play and otherwise shows the feminine ranchers how to get along with their fellows. Fay McKenzie and Edith Fellows are in the production. "The Ghost of Frankenstein," with Sir Cedric Hardwicke, Ralph Bellamy and Bela Lugosi is the second feature.

News Happenings From Communities In Richland County, Vicinity

ASHLAND GIVES ROSS SIVERLING VAIN SUPPORT

County Vote Light; Winter and McSweeney Get Unusually Large Backing.

ASHLAND—Although Ashland county Democrats polled primary votes at a 4 to 3 advantage over Republicans in yesterday's primaries, neither party recorded half as many votes as they did in the 1940 primaries.

No official totals for yesterday's vote were available, but an examination of the individual scores made by candidates shows that the highest Republican vote was 1,375 as compared with the 2,710 vote of 1940. The Democrats' high was 1,891 as compared with 3,878 in 1940.

John McSweeney of Wooster, seeking the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, got 1,370. His nearest opponent, Joseph T. Ferguson, received 299. Others were Frank A. Dye, 42; Walter F. Heer, 37; and Clarence Knisley 143.

A. Ross Siverling, Ashland county prosecutor, looking for the Democratic nomination for 17th district congressman, over-rode Samuel Anderson of Newark by a vote of 1,619 to 252 but lost out in a close race in other counties of the district.

Other Democratic votes were: Lieut. Gov., George D. Nye, 945, R. M. Winegardner, 565; secretary of state, John E. Sweeney, 1,415; state treasurer, Harry V. Armstrong, 499, Robert S. Cox, 849, and John C. Fowler, 152; attorney-general, Joseph C. Allen, 318, Herbert S. Duffy, 942, and William J. Hart, 304; congressional representative-at-large, Stephen M. Young, 1,487.

Supreme court judge starting Jan. 1, William G. Dixon, 1,337; supreme court judge starting Jan. 2, W. W. Metcalf, 1,194; judge of court of appeals, Charles C. Lemert, 1,405; member state central committee, Charles M. Beer, 1,406, J. Freer Bittinger, 705; state central committee woman, Mary B. Snow, 1,293; state representative, J. P. Hunter, 1,583; county commissioner, Edward L. Smith, 1,387; county auditor, F. E. Wickes, 1,056, Samuel C. McKinley, 825.

Ashland county Republicans gave Gov. John Bricker a vote of 1,375. The only local contest which held a great deal of interest was for the state senatorial nomination.

P. H. Rogers of Lorain seemed assured of the senatorial nomination despite the fact that he followed Ralph A. Winter of Medina county and Joseph Jameson of Lorain in the Ashland county voting.

Other Republican votes were: Lieut. Gov., Paul M. Herbert, 1,246; secretary of state, Edward J. Hummel, 623, Dale Stump, 219, and A. R. Thomas, 419; state treasurer, Don H. Ebright, 1,232; attorney-general, 1,228; congressional representative-at-large, George H. Bender, 1,237; judge of supreme court, Guy B. Findley, 695, Roy H. Williams, 580; judge of supreme court, short term, Edward C. Turner, 1,154.

17th district congressional representative, J. Harry McGregor, 1,222, Oliver H. Dockery, 92; judge of court of appeals, Robert B. Putnam, 1,174; state central committeeman, J. Harry Payne, 1,127; state central committeewoman, Mae Cole, 1,101; state representative, J. Frank McClure, 1,145; county commissioner, Tom J. Stence, 1,248; and county auditor, Lee S. Mills, 1,112.

Westies Take Edge In City Series, Beat O.P.S. 18-5

Sport Podge by REX HESS

Atheltic plans of Richland county schools for the coming school year may be a bit uncertain right now because of the transportation problem brought about by the ban on the use of school buses for hauling athletic teams, but it appears that the schools will go as far as possible toward carrying out their usual schedules.

County School Superintendent Boyd Robinson says a meeting will be held shortly before school opens to discuss the athletic problem and decide plans for the year. The problem already has been discussed on more than one occasion, but no decision reached.

* * *

In Richland county the problem shouldn't be insurmountable. Only three schools, Madison, Bellville and Butler, play football, and these communities should be able to find enough automobiles for team transportation.

And with the small squads used in basketball, the other schools should also be able to find means of transportation. It will be a continuous job, but not an impossible one.

* * *

On the football front, Madison gridders already are getting in condition, Butler has a new coach, and there's been no indication that Bellville will give up the sport.

* * *

King is not without coaching experience, having taken over at Ruggles high school in Ashland county last year when Mansfielder Huber McCuen left for the navy to become a physical instructor.

At last reports Union had just about decided on a new coach, Shiloh was looking for one, and Plymouth was wondering if Donald Dunham, now employed in defense work, would come back to school.

* * *

Over in Crawford county they've just about decided to toss in the sponge in athletics for rural schools. In fact the county board of education has advised such action, not only because of the transportation problem, but because of a shortage of coaches due to the demands made by the armed forces and defense industry on men teachers.

A definite policy is expected to be decided within the next two weeks.

Meanwhile Bucyrus high school is reported attempting to revise its schedules so that rail instead of motor transportation may be used.

* * *

Is there a shortage of coaches? Boyd Robinson tells me he heard recently there are 14 vacancies in physical education staffs in Portage county alone. And he says the schools can't compete with the wages in defense industry.

Nearly 2,000 Fans See Game at Prospect Park

Geiger Has Stuff, Musille Hasn't, And Westinghouse Has Slugfest

BEFORE the biggest crowd of the city softball championship series, a crowd estimated between 1,500 and 2,000 fans, Westinghouse gained the series lead last evening at Prospect park by swamping Ohio Public Service 18 to 5 in a slugging orgy.

Lined row on row clear to the far corners of the park, the big crowd stayed to the finish of the ball game in spite of its one-sided result. Cars were parked for blocks in every direction from the park, and some thought there might have been as many as a thousand cars gathered in the neighborhood

* * *

Aid Geiger had all his baffling assortment of mound wizardry to toss at the O. P. S. softballers last evening, and not until the last three innings when the game had long been tucked away in the bag did the Powermen make any serious offensive threats.

* * *

In contrast, Jim Musille, O. P. S. hurler, was wild from the start, and when he got the apple over the platter, the Westies drove it to the far corners of the lot.

Geiger's pitching was the more remarkable because of the fact that he was suffering from a badly bruised back as the result of tumbling headlong over First Baseman Mowery early in the game while beating out a tap which proved to be foul. Six of the nine hits off Geiger were made in the last three frames.

* * *

Tomorrow evening at 6:15 at Johns park the two teams meet in the fourth game of the series, the Westies battling for the victory that would mean the championship, and O. P. S. battling to stay in the running for the title.

* * *

Westinghouse started out in the first frame last night, taking advantage of Musille's wildness which brought three straight walks. Forman, first to stroll, was called out for leaving first too soon on an attempted steal, but Shade and Ross stayed on base, waiting for Jacob Bosco's home run drive out of the park down the right field line, bringing in three runs.

Burton hit a one-run homer for O. P. S. in the first inning, a mighty drive to the clubhouse, but there the losers' attack ended until the seventh inning.

A double by Harry Ross plated Mathias and Forman in the third inning, and Geiger's double scored Schaefer and Woerth in the fourth.

* * *

Then came the blow-off, an 8-run uprising in the fifth as 11 Westinghouse batters went to the plate. Shade, leading off, got two singles in the inning, Ross and Beery connected for doubles, and Woerth poled a triple to centerfield. Mathias and Lewis got singles.

* * *

A pair of singles and an error gave O. P. S. a run in the seventh, a single and two errors were good for another run in the eighth, and two singles and Leonard's double plated two more runs in the ninth.

Geiger hit a home run in the seventh, plating his fourth run driven in.

11 Entered In Hambletonian

Colby Hanover Rated as Favorite in Title Trot.

By ORLO ROBERTSON

GOSHEN, N. Y.—(AP)—This historic village, steeped in the lore of the trotting horse, enjoyed its annual day in the sports sun today with 11 three-year-olds tangling in the 17th Hambletonian.

Possibility of an attendance drop because of the war took some color away from the event, which in other years has attracted crowds variously estimated to 40,000. Officials of Good Time park said they would be happy if 10,000 to 12,000 appeared.

* * *

Despite the presence of Colby Hanover, 1941 two-year-old champ and holder of a 2:03 mark this season, 10 other owners yesterday paid the $500 entry fee for a crack at the $38,954.38 purse. To the winner of two-out-of-three one-mile heats will go $20,489.91.

* * *

Colby will be driven by Fred Egan of Aiken, S. C., who won in 1940 with Spencer Scott.

Lee Smith, who crashed in with Bill Gallon last year, will be behind R. H. Johnston's Pay Up. Tom Berry will pilot Green Diamond and Ben White will have Ambassador.

The pre-race books quoted Colby at 3 to 2 with Paxton Hanover the second choice at 6 to 1. Green Diamond and Pay Up were 8 to 1.

Other ratings were: The Ambassador and Scotland's Comet, 15-1; William E, Follow Me, Mable Hanover and Cannon Ball, 20-1, and Seven Up, 25-1.

Association Race Tied Up Again

(By Associated Press)

The amazing American Association pennant race was in another first place deadlock today, with Kansas City and Columbus tied for the top and the ambitious Toledo Mudhens just three games behind.

Between the leaders and the Mudhens stand Milwaukee and Minneapolis. But last night Toledo drove within one game of Minneapolis by whipping the Millers in a double header, 6-5 and 10-0, and dropping them to fourth place behind Milwaukee.

* * *

Columbus gained a first place tie with Kansas City last night by spanking last-place St. Paul, 8-0 as the Blues lost to Louisville, 5 to 3. Columbus won behind Harry Brecheen, who scattered four hits for his sixth shutout and his 16th win of the year.

* * *

Milwaukee advanced within a game of first place with a double victory over Indianapolis. Al Falzone's wildness helped Milwaukee take the opener, 6-1. In the second the Brewers pounded Elon Hogsett for 16 hits to win, 9-2.

124 ENTERED IN OHIO PUBLINKS TOURNAMENT

TOLEDO —(AP)— Defending Champion Dick Rhyan of Columbus and approximately 124 other pay-as-you-play golfers will tee off at Heather Downs Jermain course here Sunday in the 13th annual tournament of the Ohio Public Links Golf association.

This year's tournament has been sliced to a one-day, 36-hole medal play event with a total entry of not more than 125.

The women's state public links meet, also scheduled here Sunday, will be 36 holes medal play at Ottawa park.

BUY CATCHER

CHICAGO —(INS)— The Chicago Cubs announced today the purchase of Paul Gillespie, 22, catcher for the Tulsa team in the Texas league. He will report to Chicago late in the season for a try-out in the event Tulsa fails to qualify for the Texas league play-offs. Gillespie once was signed by the Brooklyn Dodgers who later released him.

BILOXI, Miss. —(AP)— Keesler Air field's grid team will play the University of Akron at Akron, O., Oct. 9, field officials announced.

File Entries for Publinks Tourney

Entries of nine Mansfield men and the defending state women's champion were sent today to Toledo for the annual Ohio public links golf tournament to be held over the 36-hole route Sunday.

Mansfield men entered are: Joe Mayer, Al Hager, Pete Linster, Carl Wiseman, Adam Brandt, Dean Robinson, Phil Schwaner, Bud Houston and Bill Gibson.

Hogan Proves Money Player

Last Big Golf Joust of Year Opens Thursday.

By LAWTON CARVER

NEW YORK—(INS)—The last big money golf tournament on the schedule for 1942 will begin tomorrow at Rochester, N. Y., with Benny Hogan again leading the attack on $5,000 in prize money. Benny already has money-winning honors for this year safely tucked away against a possible hard winter, and along with that money he also has the Vardon point trophy won and he is low man in the strokes per round averages.

* * *

This is the third year in a row that the wiry little Texan thus has cashed in on being the hardest-working player the game has produced, an adherent of practice in rain or shine, and weary hours of putting on the practice greens and on hotel carpets.

* * *

None can catch him this year now even if at a later date some closing tournaments for the year are scheduled in Florida—none, in fact, can even come close. He doesn't merely win, he leaves the rest so far behind that they look as though they are still playing back in the more glamorous but slightly less lucrative era known as the golden age.

In this Rochester Times-Union Open beginning tomorrow he will be the one the rest will have to surround, hem in and subdue if they plan to get anywhere, although he is slightly off his game right now, which means that he may not be able to take more than four strokes off par each day.

Until he hit that terrible slump, which he talks about—and which has caused his scores to soar to 69's and 70's—Hogan was nudging the leaders in every tournament he didn't win, and slump or no slump will come close to doing the same at Rochester.

* * *

His average score for 55 tournament rounds this year, through last week's Canadian Open, is 70.12 and his money winnings, through that same event in which he finished fourth, $12,443, or approximately $3,000 better than Byron Nelson.

* * *

The Rochester tournament may be the last for this year, barring late scheduling of Florida tournaments just before the holidays, and Hogan and all the boys will be up there banging away through Sunday for what may be their final payday on the links in 1942.

They all will be there—and all hopeful, no doubt, that Benny the Beaver really is in a slump. But they won't bet on it.

Champ Sets Sights On Two Records

CHICAGO —(U.P.)— Mrs. Russell Mann of Omaha, Neb., today set her sights on the elusive records as she led a field of 16 survivors into the second round of the women's western amateur golf championship.

As she continued her title bid in the day's feature match against Georgia Tainter, of Fargo N. D., Mrs. Mann seeks to become the fifth player in the 42-year history of this feminine sports event to win the title twice in a row and the seventh shot-maker ever to take the western championship three times.

Mrs. Mann gained a 2 and 1 victory over Betty Jane Haemerle, St. Louis schoolgirl yesterday. Miss Tainter advanced with 3 and 2 triumph over Phyllis Ott, of Atlantic, Iowa.

Tigers Call Up 12 From Beaumont

DETROIT —(U.P.)— The Detroit Tigers now in sixth place, plan to call up 12 youngsters from the Texas league to bolster their chances of finishing in the first division of the American league.

* * *

Manager Del Baker made the announcement after Billy Hitchcock, 24, regular shortstop and a lieutenant in the Army Reserve, had been called to duty. He reports to Boca Raton, Fla., Thursday as a member of the Army Air Force technical command.

* * *

The players to be called up include Dick Wakefield and Walt Evers, hard-hitting outfielders optioned to Beaumont, and 10 other players. They will report at the end of the Texas league season and playoffs.

CHARLESTON LOSES

SPRINGFIELD, O.—(AP)— Dayton tightened its hold on second place in the Mid-Atlantic league last night, trouncing Springfield 10 to 1 as Canton took both ends of a doubelheader from third-place Erie. Canton won the first 2 to 1 and the second 9 to 2. Zanesville defeated Charleston 2 to 1.

LANCASTER — (AP) — Ohio's semi-pro baseball champions, the Anchor-Hocking Glass Co., team, will represent the state in the National tournament at Wichita, Kas., this month.

Boudreau Signs New Contract

Named Cleveland Pilot For Next Three Years.

By RAY BLOSSER

CLEVELAND—(AP)— Baseball's "boy manager" Lou Boudreau has made good with Alva Bradley, known to the trade as a tough man on managers who don't win.

The Cleveland club's white-haired president walked into the dressing room last night and surprised the Indians with the word that Lou—barely 25 years old—had been signed to lead them through the 1943 season.

Players cheered and Boudreau, who has the Tribe scrapping with Boston for second place despite the loss of Pitcher Bob Feller, responded:

* * *

"Naturally I'm happy, but I want you fellows to know that I'm not fooling myself. It's you who have done the job for me."

* * *

Although the present contract carried through 1943, Bradley offered no explanation why a new three-year document was signed for 1943 through 1945. He also made no mention of a salary increase, but it was presumed he had given his playing shortstop more than the $25,000 annually believed paid now.

Only after a week of hesitation late last year did Bradley appoint Boudreau the Indian's 15th pilot since the club joined the American league in 1901. Lou made a special trip to Cleveland to ask for the job, vacated by elevation of Roger Peckinpaugh to the No. 1 front office post. Bradley said no.

* * *

"I still think I'm the man for the job," Lou declared as he walked out the door.

* * *

Bradley thought it over and a week later summoned and signed his flashy shortstop.

In Feller the Indians lost a certain 20-game winner and Les Fleming currently is the only .300 hitter on an in-and-out club—but Boudreau has kept the Indians in the money all season, partly by acute juggling of pitchers. Under Lou, Jim Bagby and Chubby Dean are enjoying their best seasons.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK—(Wide World)—Despite transportation troubles, folks in Goshen figure on picking up a nice piece of change from the Hambletonian. . . . Not such a big crowd for the one day, but a lot of people decided to come early and stick around for all three days of racing. . . . The Western Pennsylvania Golf association has two scholarships at Pitt and one at Duquesne for caddies and wants to place one at Carnegie Tech. . . . Well, any time a kid can count enough to go to college he's no good as a caddie.

* * *

NOTHING BUT THE TOOTH.

When Dr. Harold Flickinger, a Siloam Springs, Ark., dentist, was going muskie fishing at the Lake of the Woods, he remembered stories about anglers whose crockery molars had popped out and had been engulfed by voracious fish. . . . The doc figured anything was worth trying so he attached two treble hooks and a spinner to an "upper metal base acrylic denture" and cast it into the water. . . . During one morning five muskies and a northern pike were landed on this lure. . . . Apparently they took the hint that he wanted them to bite.

* * *

TODAY'S GUEST STAR.

Wilbur Jennings, Fredericksburg (Va.) Free Lance-Star: "With the football season about to get under way, the wag on the corner has suggested that the fan who once took along a quart of alcoholic beverage when he went to a game in his neighbor's car bring along a quart of gasoline instead this fall."

* * *

SERVICE DEPT.

Zeke Bonura would like to land a big game, preferably against Mickey Cochrane's Great Lakes Sailors, for his Camp Shelby (Miss.) baseball team. "I think we could draw 30,000 people at White Sox park in Chicago," Zeke claims. . . . Shelby's football prospects aren't so hot, though. A scheduled game against the Cleveland Rams, Sept. 6, was called off when the army all-stars grabbed the best players. . . . Sergeant Nate Schenker, former Cleveland Rams tackle who checked into the eastern army all-star football camp 25 pounds over playing weight, has a simple explanation: "I'm mess sergeant down at Camp Wheeler."

Takes Medal Honors In News-Journal A-League.

Oscar Frantz won medal honors in the News-Journal "A" golf league at Possum Run last evening with a four-under-par 32, one of the best rounds of the season in league play.

Pete Linster also was putting for a 32 on No. 9 green, but his first putt rolled down the hill past the cup, and he missed, coming back, for a 34. Al Hager par with cards of 35, while Ray and Joe Mayer also were under Malaska was one over with 37.

Tribe, Tigers Battle 14 Innings to Scoreless Tie

(By Associated Press)

The Cleveland Indians yesterday battled the Detroit Tigers for 14 innings without a score on either side. While the Tribe missed a chance to retake second place in the American league, the deadlock produced the nearest thing to a no-hit game in the current campaign.

* * *

After playing to a standoff in the twilight half of a doubleheader, the two teams came back under the lights and Detroit triumphed, 3-2.

* * *

Thus the Boston Red Sox, who stopped the Yankees 3-2 in an 11-inning daylight tilt, retained possession of second place at least for another day.

At the same time, the New York Giants recaptured third place in the National league from Cincinnati by beating the Boston Braves, 6-4, while the Reds were going down before the Pittsburgh Pirates, 3-1.

* * *

At Cleveland, Lefty Al Milnar of the Indians bid seriously for the first no-hitter since Lon Warneke turned the trick for St. Louis Cardinals against the Cincinnati Reds last Aug. 30, and nearly made it.

* * *

There were two out in the ninth inning when Roger Cramer singled for the first blow off Milnar. But the Indians also were held scoreless by Tommy Bridges, although he yielded nine hits. The only other blow off Milnar in the five extra frames was a single by Rudy York in the 13th.

At the end of 14 innings, the game was halted by darkness and an American league rule that won't permit daylight contests to finish under lights. It went into the books as a scoreless tie, to be played off today as part of a doubleheader.

Dizzy Trout pitched the Tigers to victory in the second game, limiting the Tribe to seven hits while his mates pounded Mel Harder and Harry Eisenstat for a dozen blows.

All this happened within a few hours after Lou Boudreau signed a new contract to manage the Indians for three more years.

* * *

Detroit's victory enabled the Tigers to regain fifth place, with the St. Louis Browns, who snapped a nine-game winning streak for the Chicago White Sox. Denny Galehouse pitched the Browns to a 9-2 triumph, tossing a four-hitter at the White Sox which pushed them back to sixth place.

* * *

In another night affair, the Washington Senators downed the Philadelphia Athletics, 3-1, behind Buck Newsom's five-hit pitching.

While the Brooklyn Dodgers were idle, the St. Louis Cardinals reduced the margin between them in the National league to eight and a half games by whipping the Chicago Cubs, 7-2.

That Extra Something!

...You can spot it every time

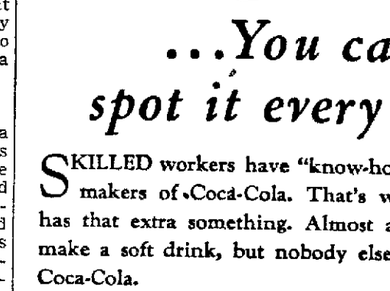
SKILLED workers have "know-how". So have the makers of Coca-Cola. That's why Coca-Cola has that extra something. Almost anybody can make a soft drink, but nobody else can make Coca-Cola.

There's a finished art in its making which gives Coca-Cola a special quality . . . its unique taste comes from a blend of pure, wholesome essences,—refreshment that can't be copied.

No other drink gives this special plus . . . this unique taste and after-sense of refreshment. People have come to realize that nothing takes the place of Coca-Cola. To want refreshment is to think of ice-cold Coca-Cola. Contentment comes when you connect with a Coke.

* * *

Wartime limits the supply of Coca-Cola. Those times when you cannot get it, remember: Coca-Cola, being first choice, is the first to go. Ask for it each time. No matter how short the supply, the quality of Coca-Cola will not be changed in any respect.



Long, hard-working hours tire you out,—slow up production. You need a brief rest-pause. So, when the schedule calls for time-out for a "breather", a moment for ice-cold, energy-giving Coca-Cola leads to better work.

The best is always the better buy!

ASHLAND GIVES ROSS SIVERLING VAIN SUPPORT

County Vote Light; Winter and McSweeney Get Unusually Large Backing.

ASHLAND—Although Ashland county Democrats polled primary votes at a 4 to 3 advantage over Republicans in yesterday's primaries, neither party recorded half as many votes as they did in the 1940 primaries.

No official totals for yesterday's vote were available, but an examination of the individual scores made by candidates shows that the highest Republican vote was 1,375 as compared with the 2,710 vote of 1940. The Democrats' high was 1,891 as compared with 3,878 in 1940.

John McSweeney of Wooster, seeking the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, got 1,370. His nearest opponent, Joseph T. Ferguson, received 299. Others were Frank A. Dye, 42; Walter F. Heer, 37; and Clarence Knisley 143.

A. Ross Siverling, Ashland county prosecutor, looking for the Democratic nomination for 17th district congressman, over-rode Samuel Anderson of Newark by a vote of 1,619 to 252 but lost out in a close race in other counties of the district.

Other Democratic votes were: Lieut. Gov., George D. Nye, 945, R. M. Winegardner, 565; secretary of state, John E. Sweeney, 1,415; state treasurer, Harry V. Armstrong, 499, Robert S. Cox, 849, and John C. Fowler, 152; attorney-general, Joseph C. Allen, 318, Herbert S. Duffy, 942, and William J. Hart, 304; congressional representative-at-large, Stephen M. Young, 1,487.

Supreme court judge starting Jan. 1, William G. Dixon, 1,337; supreme court judge starting Jan. 2, W. W. Metcalf, 1,194; judge of court of appeals, Charles C. Lemert, 1,405; member state central committee, Charles M. Beer, 1,406, J. Freer Bittinger, 705; state central committee woman, Mary B. Snow, 1,293; state representative, J. P. Hunter, 1,583; county commissioner, Edward L. Smith, 1,387; county auditor, F. E. Wickes, 1,056, Samuel C. McKinley, 825.

Ashland county Republicans gave Gov. John Bricker a vote of 1,375. The only local contest which held a great deal of interest was for the state senatorial nomination.

P. H. Rogers of Lorain seemed assured of the senatorial nomination despite the fact that he followed Ralph A. Winter of Medina county and Joseph Jameson of Lorain in the Ashland county voting.

Winter polled 485 votes while Jameson got 265 and Rogers, 245. Elmer E. Borchert received only 34 votes and Charles J. Pittenger, 212.

Other Republican votes were: Lieut. Gov., Paul M. Herbert, 1,246; secretary of state, Edward J. Hummel, 623, Dale Stump, 219, and A. R. Thomas, 419; state treasurer, Don H. Ebright, 1,232; attorney-general, 1,228; congressional representative-at-large, George H. Bender, 1,237; judge of supreme court, Guy B. Findley, 695, Roy H. Williams, 580; judge of supreme court, short term, Edward C. Turner, 1,154.

Westies Take Edge In City Series, Beat O.P.S. 18-5

Sport Podge by REX HESS

Atheltic plans of Richland county schools for the coming school year may be a bit uncertain right now because of the transportation problem brought about by the ban on the use of school buses for hauling athletic teams, but it appears that the schools will go as far as possible toward carrying out their usual schedules.

County School Superintendent Boyd Robinson says a meeting will be held shortly before school opens to discuss the athletic problem and decide plans for the year. The problem already has been discussed on more than one occasion, but no decision reached.

* * *

In Richland county the problem shouldn't be insurmountable. Only three schools, Madison, Bellville and Butler, play football, and these communities should be able to find enough automobiles for team transportation.

And with the small squads used in basketball, the other schools should also be able to find means of transportation. It will be a continuous job, but not an impossible one.

* * *

On the football front, Madison gridders already are getting in condition, Butler has a new coach, and there's been no indication that Bellville will give up the sport.

* * *

King is not without coaching experience, having taken over at Ruggles high school in Ashland county last year when Mansfielder Huber McCuen left for the navy to become a physical instructor.

At last reports Union had just about decided on a new coach, Shiloh was looking for one, and Plymouth was wondering if Donald Dunham, now employed in defense work, would come back to school.

* * *

Over in Crawford county they've just about decided to toss in the sponge in athletics for rural schools. In fact the county board of education has advised such action, not only because of the transportation problem, but because of a shortage of coaches due to the demands made by the armed forces and defense industry on men teachers.

A definite policy is expected to be decided within the next two weeks.

Meanwhile Bucyrus high school is reported attempting to revise its schedules so that rail instead of motor transportation may be used.

* * *

Is there a shortage of coaches? Boyd Robinson tells me he heard recently there are 14 vacancies in physical education staffs in Portage county alone. And he says the schools can't compete with the wages in defense industry.

Nearly 2,000 Fans See Game at Prospect Park

Geiger Has Stuff, Musille Hasn't, And Westinghouse Has Slugfest

BEFORE the biggest crowd of the city softball championship series, a crowd estimated between 1,500 and 2,000 fans, Westinghouse gained the series lead last evening at Prospect park by swamping Ohio Public Service 18 to 5 in a slugging orgy.

Lined row on row clear to the far corners of the park, the big crowd stayed to the finish of the ball game in spite of its one-sided result. Cars were parked for blocks in every direction from the park, and some thought there might have been as many as a thousand cars gathered in the neighborhood

* * *

Aid Geiger had all his baffling assortment of mound wizardry to toss at the O. P. S. softballers last evening, and not until the last three innings when the game had long been tucked away in the bag did the Powermen make any serious offensive threats.

* * *

In contrast, Jim Musille, O. P. S. hurler, was wild from the start, and when he got the apple over the platter, the Westies drove it to the far corners of the lot.

Geiger's pitching was the more remarkable because of the fact that he was suffering from a badly bruised back as the result of tumbling headlong over First Baseman Mowery early in the game while beating out a tap which proved to be foul. Six of the nine hits off Geiger were made in the last three frames.

* * *

Tomorrow evening at 6:15 at Johns park the two teams meet in the fourth game of the series, the Westies battling for the victory that would mean the championship, and O. P. S. battling to stay in the running for the title.

* * *

Westinghouse started out in the first frame last night, taking advantage of Musille's wildness which brought three straight walks. Forman, first to stroll, was called out for leaving first too soon on an attempted steal, but Shade and Ross stayed on base, waiting for Jacob Bosco's home run drive out of the park down the right field line, bringing in three runs.

Burton hit a one-run homer for O P. S. in the first inning, a mighty drive to the clubhouse, but there the losers' attack ended until the seventh inning.

A double by Harry Ross plated Mathias and Forman in the third inning, and Geiger's double scored Schaefer and Woerth in the fourth.

* * *

Then came the blow-off, an 8-run uprising in the fifth as 11 Westinghouse batters went to the plate. Shade, leading off, got two singles in the inning, Ross and Beery connected for doubles, and Woerth poled a triple to centerfield. Mathias and Lewis got singles.

* * *

A pair of singles and an error gave O. P. S. a run in the seventh, a single and two errors were good for another run in the eighth, and two singles and Leonard's double plated two more runs in the ninth.

Geiger hit a home run in the seventh, plating his fourth run driven in.

11 Entered In Hambletonian

Colby Hanover Rated as Favorite in Title Trot.

By ORLO ROBERTSON

GOSHEN, N. Y.—(AP)—This historic village, steeped in the lore of the trotting horse, enjoyed its annual day in the sports sun today with 11 three-year-olds tangling in the 17th Hambletonian.

Possibility of an attendance drop because of the war took some color away from the event, which in other years has attracted crowds variously estimated to 40,000. Officials of Good Time park said they would be happy if 10,000 to 12,000 appeared.

* * *

Despite the presence of Colby Hanover, 1941 two-year-old champ and holder of a 2:03 mark this season, 10 other owners yesterday paid the $500 entry fee for a crack at the $38,954.38 purse. To the winner of two-out-of-three one-mile heats will go $20,489.91.

* * *

Colby will be driven by Fred Egan of Aiken, S. C., who won in 1940 with Spencer Scott.

Lee Smith, who crashed in with Bill Gallon last year, will be behind R. H. Johnston's Pay Up. Tom Berry will pilot Green Diamond and Ben White will have Ambassador.

The pre-race books quoted Colby at 3 to 2 with Paxton Hanover the second choice at 6 to 1. Green Diamond and Pay Up were 8 to 1.

Other ratings were: The Ambassador and Scotland's Comet, 15-1; William E, Follow Me, Mable Hanover and Cannon Ball, 20-1, and Seven Up, 25-1.

Association Race Tied Up Again

(By Associated Press)

The amazing American Association pennant race was in another first place deadlock today, with Kansas City and Columbus tied for the top and the ambitious Toledo Mudhens just three games behind.

Between the leaders and the Mudhens stand Milwaukee and Minneapolis. But last night Toledo drove within one game of Minneapolis by whipping the Millers in a double header, 6-5 and 10-0, and dropping them to fourth place behind Milwaukee.

* * *

Columbus gained a first place tie with Kansas City last night by spanking last-place St. Paul, 8-0 as the Blues lost to Louisville, 5 to 3. Columbus won behind Harry Brecheen, who scattered four hits for his sixth shutout and his 16th win of the year.

* * *

Milwaukee advanced within a game of first place with a double victory over Indianapolis. Al Falzone's wildness helped Milwaukee take the opener, 6-1. In the second the Brewers pounded Elon Hogsett for 16 hits to win, 9-2.

Hogan Proves Money Player

Last Big Golf Joust of Year Opens Thursday.

By LAWTON CARVER

NEW YORK—(INS)—The last big money golf tournament on the schedule for 1942 will begin tomorrow at Rochester, N. Y., with Benny Hogan again leading the attack on $5,000 in prize money. Benny already has money-winning honors for this year safely tucked away against a possible hard winter, and along with that money he also has the Vardon point trophy won and he is low man in the strokes per round averages.

* * *

This is the third year in a row that the wiry little Texan thus has cashed in on being the hardest-working player the game has produced, an adherent of practice in rain or shine, and weary hours of putting on the practice greens and on hotel carpets.

* * *

None can catch him this year now even if at a later date some closing tournaments for the year are scheduled in Florida—none, in fact, can even come close. He doesn't merely win, he leaves the rest so far behind that they look as though they are still playing back in the more glamorous but slightly less lucrative era known as the golden age.

In this Rochester Times-Union Open beginning tomorrow he will be the one the rest will have to surround, hem in and subdue if they plan to get anywhere, although he is slightly off his game right now, which means that he may not be able to take more than four strokes off par each day.

Until he hit that terrible slump, which he talks about—and which has caused his scores to soar to 69's and 70's—Hogan was nudging the leaders in every tournament he didn't win, and slump or no slump will come close to doing the same at Rochester

* * *

His average score for 55 tournament rounds this year, through last week's Canadian Open, is 70.12 and his money winnings, through that same event in which he finished fourth, $12,443, or approximately $3,000 better than Byron Nelson.

* * *

The Rochester tournament may be the last for this year, barring late scheduling of Florida tournaments just before the holidays, and Hogan and all the boys will be up there banging away through Sunday for what may be their final payday on the links in 1942.

They all will be there—and all hopeful, no doubt, that Benny the Beaver really is in a slump. But they won't bet on it.

Champ Sets Sights On Two Records

CHICAGO —(U.P.)— Mrs. Russell Mann of Omaha, Neb., today set her sights on the elusive records as she led a field of 16 survivors into the second round of the women's western amateur golf championship.

As she continued her title bid in the day's feature match against Georgia Tainter, of Fargo N. D., Mrs. Mann seeks to become the fifth player in the 42-year history of this feminine sports event to win the title twice in a row and the seventh shot-maker ever to take the western championship three times.

Mrs. Mann gained a 2 and 1 victory over Betty Jane Haemerle, St. Louis schoolgirl yesterday. Miss Tainter advanced with 3 and 2 triumph over Phyllis Ott, of Atlantic, Iowa.

Tigers Call Up 12 From Beaumont

DETROIT —(U.P.)— The Detroit Tigers now in sixth place, plan to call up 12 youngsters from the Texas league to bolster their chances of finishing in the first division of the American league.

* * *

Manager Del Baker made the announcement after Billy Hitchcock, 24, regular shortstop and a lieutenant in the Army Reserve, had been called to duty. He reports to Boca Raton, Fla., Thursday as a member of the Army Air Force technical command.

* * *

The players to be called up include Dick Wakefield and Walt Evers, hard-hitting outfielders optioned to Beaumont, and 10 other players. They will report at the end of the Texas league season and playoffs.

CHARLESTON LOSES

SPRINGFIELD, O.—(AP)— Dayton tightened its hold on second place in the Mid-Atlantic league last night, trouncing Springfield 10 to 1 as Canton took both ends of a doubelheader from third-place Erie. Canton won the first 2 to 1 and the second 9 to 2. Zanesville defeated Charleston 2 to 1.

Boudreau Signs New Contract

Named Cleveland Pilot For Next Three Years.

By RAY BLOSSER

CLEVELAND—(AP)— Baseball's "boy manager" Lou Boudreau has made good with Alva Bradley, known to the trade as a tough man on managers who don't win.

The Cleveland club's white-haired president walked into the dressing room last night and surprised the Indians with the word that Lou—barely 25 years old—had been signed to lead them through the 1943 season.

Players cheered and Boudreau, who has the Tribe scrapping with Boston for second place despite the loss of Pitcher Bob Feller, responded:

* * *

"Naturally I'm happy, but I want you fellows to know that I'm not fooling myself. It's you who have done the job for me."

* * *

Although the present contract carried through 1943, Bradley offered no explanation why a new three-year document was signed for 1943 through 1945. He also made no mention of a salary increase, but it was presumed he had given his playing shortstop more than the $25,000 annually believed paid now.

Only after a week of hesitation late last year did Bradley appoint Boudreau the Indian's 15th pilot since the club joined the American league in 1901. Lou made a special trip to Cleveland to ask for the job, vacated by elevation of Roger Peckinpaugh to the No. 1 front office post. Bradley said no.

* * *

"I still think I'm the man for the job," Lou declared as he walked out the door.

* * *

Bradley thought it over and a week later summoned and signed his flashy shortstop.

In Feller the Indians lost a certain 20-game winner and Les Fleming currently is the only .300 hitter on an in-and-out club—but Boudreau has kept the Indians in the money all season, partly by acute juggling of pitchers. Under Lou, Jim Bagby and Chubby Dean are enjoying their best seasons.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK—(Wide World)—Despite transportation troubles, folks in Goshen figure on picking up a nice piece of change from the Hambletonian. . . . Not such a big crowd for the one day, but a lot of people decided to come early and stick around for all three days of racing. . . . The Western Pennsylvania Golf association has two scholarships at Pitt and one at Duquesne for caddies and wants to place one at Carnegie Tech. . . . Well, any time a kid can count enough to go to college he's no good as a caddie.

NOTHING BUT THE TOOTH.

When Dr. Harold Flickinger, a Siloam Springs, Ark., dentist, was going muskie fishing at the Lake of the Woods, he remembered stories about anglers whose crockery molars had popped out and had been engulfed by voracious fish. . . . The doc figured anything was worth trying so he attached two treble hooks and a spinner to an "upper metal base acrylic denture" and cast it into the water. . . . During one morning five muskies and a northern pike were landed on this lure. . . . Apparently they took the hint that he wanted them to bite.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR.

Wilbur Jennings, Fredericksburg (Va.) Free Lance-Star: "With the football season about to get under way, the wag on the corner has suggested that the fan who once took along a quart of alcoholic beverage when he went to a game in his neighbor's car bring along a quart of gasoline instead this fall."

SERVICE DEPT.

Zeke Bonura would like to land a big game, preferably against Mickey Cochrane's Great Lakes Sailors, for his Camp Shelby (Miss.) baseball team. "I think we could draw 30,000 people at White Sox park in Chicago," Zeke claims. . . . Shelby's football prospects aren't so hot, though. A scheduled game against the Cleveland Rams, Sept. 6, was called off when the army all-stars grabbed the best players. . . . Sergeant Nate Schenker, former Cleveland Rams tackle who checked into the eastern army all-star football camp 25 pounds over playing weight, has a simple explanation: "I'm mess sergeant down at Camp Wheeler."

Takes Medal Honors In News-Journal A-League.

Oscar Frantz won medal honors in the News-Journal "A" golf league at Possum Run last evening with a four-under-par 32, one of the best rounds of the season in league play.

Pete Linster also was putting for a 32 on No. 9 green, but his first putt rolled down the hill past the cup, and he missed, coming back, for a 34. Al Hager par with cards of 35, while Ray and Joe Mayer also were under Malaska was one over with 37.

Long Bar retained the league lead while dropping a 1-2 decision to Barnes & Schmid Tires, but Richland Printing, with a 3-2 win over Club Billiards, moved up to within one point of the leaders.

Weaver Home Supply blanked Big 3 Beers 2-0, and Quaker Market scored a 2-1 win over Andregg Billiards.

Tribe, Tigers Battle 14 Innings to Scoreless Tie

(By Associated Press)

The Cleveland Indians yesterday battled the Detroit Tigers for 14 innings without a score on either side. While the Tribe missed a chance to retake second place in the American league, the deadlock produced the nearest thing to a no-hit game in the current campaign.

* * *

After playing to a standoff in the twilight half of a doubleheader, the two teams came back under the lights and Detroit triumphed, 3-2.

* * *

Thus the Boston Red Sox, who stopped the Yankees 3-2 in an 11-inning daylight tilt, retained possession of second place at least for another day.

At the same time, the New York Giants recaptured third place in the National league from Cincinnati by beating the Boston Braves, 6-4, while the Reds were going down before the Pittsburgh Pirates, 3-1.

* * *

At Cleveland, Lefty Al Milnar of the Indians bid seriously for the first no-hitter since Lon Warneke turned the trick for St. Louis Cardinals against the Cincinnati Reds last Aug. 30, and nearly made it.

* * *

There were two out in the ninth inning when Roger Cramer singled for the first blow off Milnar. But the Indians also were held scoreless by Tommy Bridges, although he yielded nine hits. The only other blow off Milnar in the five extra frames was a single by Rudy York in the 13th.

At the end of 14 innings, the game was halted by darkness and an American league rule that won't permit daylight contests to finish under lights. It went into the books as a scoreless tie, to be played off today as part of a doubleheader.

Dizzy Trout pitched the Tigers to victory in the second game, limiting the Tribe to seven hits while his mates pounded Mel Harder and Harry Eisenstat for a dozen blows.

All this happened within a few hours after Lou Boudreau signed a new contract to manage the Indians for three more years.

* * *

Detroit's victory enabled the Tigers to regain fifth place, with the help of the St. Louis Browns, who snapped a nine-game winning streak for the Chicago White Sox. Denny Galehouse pitched the Browns to a 9-2 triumph, tossing a four-hitter at the White Sox which pushed them back to sixth place.

* * *

In another night affair, the Washington Senators downed the Philadelphia Athletics, 3-1, behind Buck Newsom's five-hit pitching.

While the Brooklyn Dodgers were idle, the St. Louis Cardinals reduced the margin between them in the National league to eight and a half games by whipping the Chicago Cubs, 7-2.

Girl Shows Men How to Shoot

WILLARD—At 6 p. m. Thursday, trap shooters from Plymouth, Bellevue, Monroeville, Boughtonville and Willard will meet at the Willard Conservation club grounds on the Greenbush road, east of here for a shoot.

Miss Pauline Noble, 18, an operator at a local beauty parlor, has recently had high score in shooting events at the local club, defeating men who have for years been considered "crack shots."

That Extra Something!
...You can spot it every time
SKILLED workers have "know-how". So have the makers of Coca-Cola. That's why Coca-Cola has that extra something. Almost anybody can make a soft drink, but nobody else can make Coca-Cola.
There's a finished art in its making which gives Coca-Cola a special quality... its unique taste comes from a blend of pure, wholesome essences,—refreshment that can't be copied.
No other drink gives this special plus ...this unique taste and after-sense of refreshment. People have come to realize that nothing takes the place of Coca-Cola. To want refreshment is to think of ice-cold Coca-Cola. Contentment comes when you connect with a Coke.
* * *
Wartime limits the supply of Coca-Cola. Those times when you cannot get it, remember: Coca-Cola, being first choice, is the first to go. Ask for it each time. No matter how short the supply, the quality of Coca-Cola will not be changed in any respect.
Long, hard-working hours tire you out,—slow up production. You need a brief rest-pause. So, when the schedule calls for time-out for a "breather", a moment for ice-cold, energy-giving Coca-Cola leads to better work.

PAM—Odd Angle. By A. W. Brewerton

THAT'S A FUNNY ANGLE, ISN'T IT, PRECIOUS? THAT AN EMPLOYEE WOULD, APPARENTLY, BE TRYING TO PIN A CRIME ON HIS EMPLOYER? I HAD A LONG TALK WITH BRONNER!
8-12
ACH! OF COURSE, I'VE A RIGHT IN MY OWN PLANT, MR GORDON, BUT WHAT I CAN'T UNDERSTAND IS WHY CARNEY INSISTS I WAS THERE WHEN I WASN'T! HE'S ALWAYS BEEN A RELIABLE WORKMAN—WITH US OVER TEN YEARS—A VALUABLE MAN!
TALKED, TOO, WITH THIS RED-HEADED IRISHMAN, CARNEY, THE FOREMAN
SURE, THERE NEVER WAS A FINER BOSS THAN MR BRONNER, SIR! BUT WHY DOES HE SAY HE WASN'T IN HERE?
CARNEY SAYS HE'S NOT ACCUSING BRONNER OF ANYTHING! HE WAS THINKING IT ODD THAT ALL OF A SUDDEN BRONNER SHOULD TAKE TO COMING INTO THE SHOPS SO OFTEN, AND THEN, HE NOTICED BRONNER'S VISITS ALWAYS PRECEDED SOME SORT OF SABOTAGE

MINOR CHANGES FAIL TO SHOW MARKET TRENDS

Chrysler Drops Off Point and Three Quarters on Curtailed Profits.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Prices were mixed at the opening of a quiet stock market today but most changes were in minor fractions.

An exception was Chrysler, which opened on a block of 1,000 shares, off 1¾ points, following the announcement after the close yesterday of curtailed profits and dividend.

The tremendous impact of war on industrial operations and profits was emphasized by current news developments, Wall Street statisticians said. One contrast pointed out was this:

The Office of War Information revealed that July expenditures for war purposes were $4,794,000,000 or at the rate of $1,790 a second. In July, 1940, the whole month's expenditures for war purposes was only $200,000,000.

Yet Chrysler Corp., whose current production is more than 97 per cent devoted directly to the war effort, reported both gross business and profits had dropped very sharply in the first half of this year and directors ordered a dividend of 75 cents a share, compared with $1 three months ago and $1.50 at this time last year. President K. T. Keller reported growing participation in the war program, however, apparently implying some recovery in gross volume as time goes on.

REASONABLE!

Bombers Shouldn't Land If Dog On Field's Having Pups.

ALBUQUERQUE, N M.—(AP)—Seeing a dog on the field, the Albuquerque Army Air Base control tower operator held several bombers aloft.

Military police dashed to clear the runway.

The MP's arrived, in motorcycle and sidecar, just as three pups were born. The mother, ancestry uncertain, was as wild as a coyote and fled to the nearby sandhills.

To an Albuquerque home went the pups.

Down came the bombers.

Most Newspaper Readers Turn To Comics First

WILMINGTON, Del. — (INS) — The comics of a daily newspaper might just as well be on page one, because that's where reader interest centers, according to survey by the advertising class of Beason College

In an effort to determine the reading habits of the newspaper "audience," members of the class interviewed 300 individuals. The results showed that most people turn to the comics first. The front page took second place; sports third, and society fourth.

A large number of women, specified they first read the marriages and looked over the pictures of those engaged and married. Contrary to general opinion, a consensus showed that reader interest was high on obituaries. In fact, the number of people contacted who read these first were sufficient to place them in sixth place.

Some of the eccentricities of the readers were discovered too. One reader confessed he lies flat on the floor and looks over the paper from cover to cover. A war worker said

"I always turn first to the date and day. Defense work has me so confused that I often find myself forgetting what day of the week it is and I must depend on my paper."

RETREAT LEAVES TRAIL OF RUINS

ported Russian forces engaged in defensive battles with a numerically superior enemy in the Krasnodar area, some 65 miles northwest of the oil town of Maikop, which the Germans had stormed.

"The enemy is bringing up reserves and in spite of huge losses incessantly attacking," the communique asserted.

In the Maikop area and around Cherkess, 175 miles northwest of the oil fields of Grozny, where the Germans had commenced a new drive toward Grozny and the Caspian sea, the communique reported "intense fighting with enemy tanks and motorized infantry."

Stubborn battles were reported in the areas of Kletskaya and northeeast of Kotelnikovski, 75 miles northwest and 90 miles southwest of Stalingrad, respectively, but the communique indicated that the prongs of the German pincers aimed at industrial Stalingrad from those points had not gained.

Dispatches from Kletskaya said Russion tanks had surprised troop concentrations behind the German lines and plowed into them, grinding German soldiers beneath their treads.

The Russian tanks made a surprise attack after getting behind German motorized infantry which had penetrated Russian positions. It was not made clear, however, whether the penetration was recent, or one reported several days ago.

U. S. Fliers Train For Desert Fighting

CAIRO —(AP)— United States Army fighter pilots have arrived in the western desert to learn flying conditions at first hand as dust storms curtailed the war on that front to ground patrols and artillery exchanges.

The Americans are joining RAF squadrons at present, and will fly RAF American-made Curtiss Kittyhawks and Tomahawks, with which most of them already are familiar, it was disclosed.

Meanwhile battle operations were primarily confined to operation of British patrols over the whole front facing the Germans and Italians.

RAF Directs Heavy Raid At Mainz

LONDON—(AP)—Mainz, German chemical industry and rail center on the Rhine, was heavily attacked last night by the RAF in a raid which was "particularly successful" and left fires still raging this morning, the air ministry announced today.

Sixteen bombers were missing, indicating a strong force participated. (If previous losses of 4 to 5 per cent of the attackers is used as a basis, the number involved would be up to 500.)

Goblenz, docks at Le Havre and air fields in the low countries also were attacked

Mainz is the center of important Nazi machinery and chemical works It was the fourth raid on Mainz The last was Nov. 28, 1940.

The raid followed a one-night, weather-enforced gap in the RAF offensive against Germany.

Admit Russian Attack In North

BERLIN — (From German Broadcast) —(AP)— The German high command disclosed today that the Russians have launched new counter-blows against the Nazi offensive northwest of Voronez but a special war bulletin claimed a victory in the Don Bend which it said raised Germany's 1942 Red Army captives to 1,044,741.

A special announcement pronounced the battle of the Don Bend concluded and declared that German troops and air forces "have annihilated the bulk of the 62nd Soviet army and strong units of the first tank army in the great Don Bend west of Kalach."

More than 57 000 prisoners were taken in that battle and more were captured or destroyed, it said.

New Helmets Are Being Turned Out For the U. S. Army

PITTSBURGH — (INS)— Tough, light-weight helmets which can be worn as a one-piece covering during non-combat duty or as innerlining for all-steel helmets during actual battle are now in mass production.

Although made of cloth and resin, the 12-ounce plastic headgears have the strength of steel pound for pound, and are designed to give Uncle Sam's fighting men maximum protection and comfort. They can withstand the force of an eight-pound steel ball dropped from a height of nearly two feet—the army's specific crash resistant test of 15 foot-pounds.

"In stopping the ball," explained Eugene R. Perry, superintendent of the Westinghouse Micarta Department, "the helmet 'gives' three-sixteenths of an inch, resisting a force at the point of impact of nearly half a ton. This means the helmet in effect withstands approximately 1,000 pounds dropped three-sixteenths of an inch." . . .

The plastic helmet is the liner or inner-half of the army's new two-part steel and plastic headpiece.

SINGS PRAISES OF LIMBURGER

Cheese Specialist Says People Have Wrong Impression Because of Odor.

(By United Press)

GENEVA, N. Y. — Limburger cheese has been maligned, according to Dr. M. W. Yale, bacteriologist at the state experiment station.

"Too many people through false information have the wrong impression of limburger cheese," he added. "This cheese is healthful because it is a milk product and high in food value and also it is made from sweet whole milk, none of the butter fat being removed. Furthermore, no cheese requires more constant care and greater cleanliness of manufacture than does limburger."

Limburger is a surface-ripened cheese, Yale said. That means that the bacteria giving the cheese its characteristic flavor, color and texture grow on the surface and ripen the cheese by means of chemicals produced by the bacteria.

New York State has a big stake in the odoriferous cheese, producing from two to three million pounds of it annually. The business generally is a family enterprise and is largely in the hands of Swiss and German descendants of cheese makers who came to this country in the 1850s.
